$150,000 Monkey Trial.
Two Rockefeller Deeds.
Coolidge Tells Mexico.
One Busy Crow.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Everything now is figured in dollars, Prof. Scoopes of Tennessee, hero and defendant in the famous fundamentalist-Bryan-Darwin monkey trial, has refused offers totaling $150,000 in connection with motion picture and other rights of the trial.

If a 1925 monkey trial is worth $150,000, how would you fix the value of other trials? For instance: the trial of Madame Roland before her head was cut off, or Robespierre.

The impeachment of Warren Hastings, or the trial of the Tichborne claimant, or Savonorella?

The trial of Croesus, which was short, when Cyrus sentenced him to death?

And what would be the value of that last scene as they were burning Croseus, earth's richest man, and he cried out, "Oh, Solon! Solon!" amid the smoke, causing the curiosity of Cyrus to bring him down from the fire and became his friend?

Two things have been done this week in the name of Rockefeller. John D., Jr., supplied $600,000 to preserve and give to the public Bernard's fine collection of cloisters and Gothic antiques. That was a good deed.

At the same time, Standard Oil, another name for Rockefeller, ordered for its employes an all metal monoplane so big that the description calls it "a flying bungalow."

That was a very good Rockefeller deed, more important to the country than any collection of Gothic antiques. The business concern that builds flying machines builds to protect the safety of America.

The great Standard Oil flying machine, which, it is hoped, will be only one of thousands carrying the American flag and educating American aviators, will be built by the Stout All-Metal Co., in Detroit, the name of Edsel and Henry Ford's flying machine company.

Young Americans are eager to fly, and maintain the rights and safety of the United States on the modern field of battle and "ocean," which is the air. The young men of Annapolis recently, told that they must learn to fly, were more than willing. Many of them are giving up their regular summer cruise to practice flying.

Theodore Roosevelt compelled army men, much to the discomfort of the fat ones, to prove that they could endure a 50-mile ride on horseback.

President Coolidge within a year or so may call upon the younger officers to prove that they can ride a flying machine 20,000 feet up into the clouds.

Secretary Kellogg, with President Coolidge's approval, of course, has sent to the Mexican government a Four More Japanese Destroyers go to China.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—Chinese exchange speculators started feeverish buying of gold bars this afternoon following rumors that an understanding will be reached tomorrow which will end the general strike which has tied up Shanghai for the last two weeks.

It is understood the Chinese negotiators are holding out for their three principal demands, namely, punishment of police, indemnity for the victims killed in the student demonstration and a return of the international mixed court. Foreign delegates conferred but declined to make a statement on progress of a settlement. It is understood the foreign negotiators are willing to make some concessions, possibly a return of the mixed court.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—The slaying of William McKenzie, British subject and an employe of the municipal electricity department and the wounding of Miss Mary Duncan, are believed to have been the outgrowth of a long standing dispute between the Chinese and the municipal council over the extension of the foreign settlement roads into Chinese territory.

TOKIO, June 16.—The Japanese government today ordered four more destroyers to proceed from Sasebo naval base to Shanghai, making 10 Japanese warships in Chinese waters. The additional ships are expected to reach Shanghai Wednesday. One will probably proceed to Hankow and another to Kiukiang. The destroyers are not carrying marines.

Engine and Two Front Coaches Leave Tracks at Rockport, N. J., as Five-car Train, Carrying Party Bound for Bremen Germany, is Speeding From Chicago to Hoboken, N. J.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES RAIL DURING TERRIFIC STORM HOUR BEFORE CRASH

Great Confusion Prevails at Scene, With Women Screaming and Some of Most Seriously Injured Begging Doctors to Let Them Die, as Rescue Workers are Rushed From Four Cities.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Twelve persons were killed and approximately 50 injured, several of them perhaps fatally, when a special five-car train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, speeding from Chicago to Hoboken, N. J., was derailed at Rockport, three miles from here, early today.

The victims were on their way to New York to sail this afternoon on the Republic, of the United States lone for Bremen, Germany.

The train struck a rail at Rockport that had been split by lightning an hour before. The engine and the two front coaches leaped the rails. The other three coaches remained on the tracks.

Relief trains, bearing doctors, nurses and all necessary paraphernalia were rushed to the scene from Dover, Hackettstown, Washington, N. J., and Easton, Pa.

Most of Victims Asleep.

The greatest confusion prevailed at the scene when the rescue workers arrived. Women were screaming, men were trying to quiet them and some of the most seriously injured begged the doctors to let them die.

Most of the victims were asleep when the accident occurred, at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

The first eye-witness story of the fatal crash was given by Miss Mabel White, daughter of Chief of Police L. C. White, of Hackettstown, and one of the first to arrive at the scene. She was a spectator at a fire in a lumber works in Hackettstown early this morning when news of the wreck at Rockport was received.

Eye-witness Story.

"I went at once to the scene, three miles away, in a friend's automobile," Miss White said. "We got there about half an hour after the wreck occurred.

"The scene was pitiable. Women, some of whom could not talk English, were going about in circles, wringing their hands and crying as if their hearts would break.

"Big, strong men, their husbands, or friends, went about, patting them on the shoulders and trying to comfort them.

"One woman, whose child, a girl, was scalded to death, was inconsolable.

"The two front coaches and the engine had gone off the track. The windows of these coaches—both steel, by the way—were shattered and many of the injured were inside, groaning. They were being treated by those who first got to the scene.

"I counted 10 dead. Most of the dead were scalded as well as injured in the wreck.

"I had the presence of mind to take with me from Hackettstown a bottle of olive oil. I went through one of the windows of the overturned coaches and applied the oil to the burns of the injured.

"The injured were in terrible pain. They screamed and groaned.

Storm is Blamed By Road Chieftain For Fatal Crash

NEWARK, N. J., June 16.—Three reasons for the fatal wreck on the Lackawanna railroad at Rockport, N. J., today were advanced in a tentative report made by Robert White, general superintendent of the road, to the state board of public utilities.

They were:

1—That lightning struck the rails.

2—That sand and debris were washed on the tracks by heavy rain.

3—That the road bed had been washed out.

Vacation Bible School Will Open Here Next Monday

A Daily Vacation Bible School will open here next Monday morning under the auspices of at least three and perhaps five of the down town churches.

The First Methodist Episcopal, First United Presbyterian and First Methodist Protestant churches have already pledged their co-operation, while the First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches have the matter under consideration.

The first assembly will be in the Methodist Episcopal church at 9 a. m. Monday. Sessions will be held from 9 until 11:30 a. m. According to its sponsors, the school trains in character, respect for homes and churches and builds in civic pride and service. It is pointed out that during vacation time, when schools are out, restraint is removed to such a degree that habits are formed which may prove injurious throughout life. The Daily Vacation Bible School movement was founded to counteract any such influences and to keep the minds of the children employed, the pastors said.

$2,000 DAMAGE

One Killed, Two Burned During Storm in Cleveland.

Damage estimated at about $2,000 resulted at 7:30 o'clock last night, when a one-story frame barn on the Stewart Brothers' farm, one and one-half miles back of Chester, was destroyed by fire after it was struck by lightning. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Cattle housed in the building, were driven out before the blaze had gained headway. Ten tons of hay and a small amount of grain were destroyed.

The Chester volunteer firemen were called, but the blaze was beyond control when they arrived. The barn is situated on what is known as the old Neiswonger farm, which is now owned by Stewart Brothers.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—Two men were in hospitals today, seriously burned, while a third was dead, the result of the severe electrical storm that broke the sudden heat wave yesterday.

Arthur Fritsch, 30, was killed, as he stood with Frank Shay, 31, and August Basch, 35, beneath a tree near Riverside cemetery, for shelter from the storm.

One Rotarian attending the convention was overcome by the heat at a downtown hotel.

Mayor Charles Brown announced that Patrolman Herman Roth, beginning today, will be on motorcycle duty from 2 p. m. until midnight daily. He will be garbed in a special motorcycle officer's uniform. He will confine his efforts to thoroughfares within the city limits.

After residents of Klondyke complained that autoists were making a speedway of Harvey avenue, council, Friday night, adopted a motion asking the safety director to put the motorcycle officer on duty in an effort to break up the practice.

Patrolman Roth's machine will be equipped with a side car. Offenders will be halted by the officer, advised of their arrest and notified when to appear. Their names and license numbers will be taken by the police.

DR. TUCKER TELLS OF SCRIPTURAL PROPHETS' PARTS IN WORLD ECONOMY

"God has Outlined Events of all Nations in Advance," Biblical Chart Lecturer Declares at First Baptist Church.

"God has outlined the events of all nations in advance, hence all happenings now are just what these seers foretold," asserted Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York city, in a compelling resume of the part played in world economy by the major and minor scriptural prophets, at the First Baptist church on Monday evening.

"No man can lay claim to statesmanship, the science of government, without having an outstanding knowledge of prophecy," he said. "There can be no permanent or accurate vision of international relationship and occurrences without acquaintanceship with these early visions."

That Dr. Tucker and his brilliant party may return to East Liverpool for another and perhaps longer engagement was indicated by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, who declared "such a procedure was now being considered."

Three night services yet remain of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker. He announced that the lectures he will give on these occasions will be among the best of his repertoire. That on Tuesday evening will be: "Tests, Trials and Triumphs of Tribulations." This will be an intimate close-up with

CURTIS, FORMER CANTON SAFETY DIRECTOR, MUST GO TO PRISON

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction on Bribery Charge.

THREE-YEAR TERM

Claim he Accepted $50 From Alleged Bootlegger.

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Edward E. Curtis, former public safety director, Canton, must serve three years in the Ohio penitentiary, following conviction on a charge of accepting a $50 bribe from Clyde Goldfuss, agent for an alleged bootlegger, the state supreme court ruled today in a 33-page opinion.

Ousted by Donahey.

The supreme court's decree affirms the judgment of the Stark county courts. The offense occurred in March, 1926, is was alleged. Following a hearing relative to this and other charges, Governor Donahey removed Curtis from office.

Curtis was ousted by Governor Donahey in 1923, after an expose of graft in the Canton police department headed by Curtis. Curtis' subsequent conviction was on the charge that Goldfuss had paid the bribe, through Harry Bouklias, alleged agent of Curtis, to protect Goldfuss in bootlegging activities.

The lengthy opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Marshall and concurred in by Judges Day, Allen and Kinkade, after 31 pages of argument upholding the court's action in dismissing alleged errors, said:

"We are convinced that there was a conspiracy to thwart and annual the administration of justice in Canton, during the administration of the defendant as safety director, and we are unconvinced that any conspiracy was framed on the part of the underworld for the purpose of prosecuting the defendant in this case."

Curtis Guilty, Says Court.

Chief Justice Marshall pointed out that the principal witnesses against Curtis "had previously testified to the contrary" and that it was necessary to determine "on what occasion they spoke the truth." Continuing the court said:

"Those witnesses, having been guilty of violation of the liquor and gambling laws and having been guilty of bribery, not to say many other crimes, and having crowded their unholy work by committing perjury in an endeavor to save themselves from the penalties of their crimes,

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE FORMALLY LAUNCHES 1926-27 ECONOMY PROGRAM; TAX REDUCTION LOOMS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Coolidge today formally launched his 1926-1927 economy program, aimed at Drastic cost cutting policies in government which may be reflected in tax reduction in the sixty ninth congress.

At the president's direction department heads were requested by Budget Director H. M. Lord to attend the annual meeting of the government's business organization on June 22.

Plans to secure greater efficiency and economy for the coming two years will be outlined, according to Lord.

Coincident with the calling of the economy session came indications of a clash in congress between the administration and advocates of tax reduction who feel government revenue should be cut more than $500,000,000.

Mellon Opposes Greater Cut.

While Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will submit no specific plan to congress and will avoid an open break on new legislation, he opposes revenue reduction exceeding $300,000,000. A greater cut would force the government to borrow money to meet expenses, experts said.

The treasury revealed that the surplus for 1926 will be approximately $250,000,000, compared to the preliminary $373,700,000 estimate. Partially balancing this loss, however, was the probability that the 1925 surplus will exceed the estimate of $67,000,000 by $50,000,000.

The treasury is against a revenue cut greater than the surplus. Mellon also opposes applying payments on foreign debts directly to tax reduction, holding that it is better economy to reach taxes indirectly by applying payments to the public debt. A change of treasury policy would require an amendment to the law.

If taxes are reduced rates must be levied so scientifically that the new bill will eventually increase revenue, officials said. Mellon believes a cut in surtaxes to 15 or 25 per cent will accomplish this end. Officials pointed out that in 1916 under low taxation there were 2,449 incomes of over $200,000 reported. In 1921, at the maximum tax period, the number was 472, while in 1923, at lower tax rates, it went to 1,193.

The government reduced its operating expenses by $120,665,000 from July 1, 1924, to June 14, compared to the same period of 1923-1924. Ordinary expenses were $7,551,000 higher. But cut being due to reduced public debt interest.

The agricultural department increased its expenditures $26,582,000, the navy $14,971,000 and the war department $9,848,000. Led my the veterans bureau with $22,371,000 five departments cut expenses.

President Coolidge is expected to ask department heads to use the pruning knife to get under the $3,267,000,000 estimated costs for 1926 appropriations for which have already been made for the government in 1927. The figure for 1926 was $1,000,000,0000. Budget officials said ordinary expenditures for 1927 probably would exceed 1926 by $50,000,000.

Government revenue under the 1924 revenue act will be higher than was expected. Receipts for 11½ months were $1,420,000,000, with not all the estimated $330,000,000 June collection included. Income tax receipts will exceed the $1,600,000,000 estimate.

DR. TUCKER TELLS OF SCRIPTURAL PROPHETS' PARTS IN WORLD ECONOMY

"God has Outlined Events of all Nations in Advance," Biblical Chart Lecturer Declares at First Baptist Church.

"God has outlined the events of all nations in advance, hence all happenings now are just what these seers foretold," asserted Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York city, in a compelling resume of the part played in world economy by the major and minor scriptural prophets, at the First Baptist church on Monday evening.

"No man can lay claim to statesmanship, the science of government, without having an outstanding knowledge of prophecy," he said. "There can be no permanent or accurate vision of international relationship and occurrences without acquaintanceship with these early visions."

That Dr. Tucker and his brilliant party may return to East Liverpool for another and perhaps longer engagement was indicated by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, who declared "such a procedure was now being considered."

Three night services yet remain of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker. He announced that the lectures he will give on these occasions will be among the best of his repertoire. That on Tuesday evening will be: "Tests, Trials and Triumphs of Tribulations." This will be an intimate close-up with

CURTIS, FORMER CANTON SAFETY DIRECTOR, MUST GO TO PRISON

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction on Bribery Charge.

THREE-YEAR TERM

Claim he Accepted $50 From Alleged Bootlegger.

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Edward E. Curtis, former public safety director, Canton, must serve three years in the Ohio penitentiary, following conviction on a charge of accepting a $50 bribe from Clyde Goldfuss, agent for an alleged bootlegger, the state supreme court ruled today in a 33-page opinion.

Ousted by Donahey.

The supreme court's decree affirms the judgment of the Stark county courts. The offense occurred in March, 1926, is was alleged. Following a hearing relative to this and other charges, Governor Donahey removed Curtis from office.

Curtis was ousted by Governor Donahey in 1923, after an expose of graft in the Canton police department headed by Curtis. Curtis' subsequent conviction was on the charge that Goldfuss had paid the bribe, through Harry Bouklas, alleged agent of Curtis, to protect Goldfuss in bootlegging activities.

The lengthy opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Marshall and concurred in by Judges Day, Allen and Kinkade, after 31 pages of argument upholding the court's action in dismissing alleged errors, said:

"We are convinced that there was a conspiracy to thwart and annual the administration of justice in Canton, during the administration of the defendant as safety director, and we are unconvinced that any conspiracy was framed on the part of the underworld for the purpose of prosecuting the defendant in this case."

Curtis Guilty, Says Court.

Chief Justice Marshall pointed out that the principal witnesses against Curtis "had previously testified to the contrary" and that it was necessary to determine "on what occasion they spoke the truth." Continuing the court said:

"Those witnesses, having been guilty of violation of the liquor and gambling laws and having been guilty of bribery, not to say many other crimes, and having crowded their unholy work by committing perjury in an endeavor to save themselves from the penalties of their crimes,

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE FORMALLY LAUNCHES 1926-27 ECONOMY PROGRAM; TAX REDUCTION LOOMS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Coolidge today formally launched his 1926-1927 economy program, aimed at Drastic cost cutting policies in government which may be reflected in tax reduction in the sixty ninth congress.

At the president's direction department heads were requested by Budget Director H. M. Lord to attend the annual meeting of the government's business organization on June 22.

Plans to secure greater efficiency and economy for the coming two years will be outlined, according to Lord.

Coincident with the calling of the economy session came indications of a clash in congress between the administration and advocates of tax reduction who feel government revenue should be cut more than $500,000,000.

Mellon Opposes Greater Cut.

While Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will submit no specific plan to congress and will avoid an open break on new legislation, he opposes revenue reduction exceeding $300,000,000. A greater cut would force the government to borrow money to meet expenses, experts said.

The treasury revealed that the surplus for 1926 will be approximately $250,000,000, compared to the preliminary $373,700,000 estimate. Partially balancing this loss, however, was the probability that the 1925 surplus will exceed the estimate of $67,000,000 by $50,000,000.

The treasury is against a revenue cut greater than the surplus. Mellon also opposes applying payments on foreign debts directly to tax reduction, holding that it is better economy to reach taxes indirectly by applying payments to the public debt. A change of treasury policy would require an amendment to the law.

If taxes are reduced rates must be levied so scientifically that the new bill will eventually increase revenue, officials said. Mellon believes a cut in surtaxes to 15 or 25 per cent will accomplish this end. Officials pointed out that in 1916 under low taxation there were 2,449 incomes of over $200,000 reported. In 1921, at the maximum tax period, the number was 472, while in 1923, at lower tax rates, it went to 1,193.

The government reduced its operating expenses by $120,665,000 from July 1, 1924, to June 14, compared to the same period of 1923-1924. Ordinary expenses were $7,551,000 higher. But cut being due to reduced public debt interest.

The agricultural department increased its expenditures $26,582,000, the navy $14,971,000 and the war department $9,848,000. Led my the veterans bureau with $22,371,000 five departments cut expenses.

President Coolidge is expected to ask department heads to use the pruning knife to get under the $3,267,000,000 estimated costs for 1926 appropriations for which have already been made for the government in 1927. The figure for 1926 was $1,000,000,0000. Budget officials said ordinary expenditures for 1927 probably would exceed 1926 by $50,000,000.

Government revenue under the 1924 revenue act will be higher than was expected. Receipts for 11½ months were $1,420,000,000, with not all the estimated $330,000,000 June collection included. Income tax receipts will exceed the $1,600,000,000 estimate.

FIVE SILENT "COPS" ON JOB

Electric Traffic Signs are Placed in Downtown Zones.

Five electrically lighted "silent" policemen are being placed in position in the downtown district today, replacing smaller kerosene lanterns.

The lights are being located at the corner of Fifth and Market street, intersection of St. Clair avenue and Sixth street, Dresden avenue and Sixth street, Broadway and St. Clair avenue and at the three-point corner of Sixth and Washington streets and Broadway.

The new lights, about six feet in height, are mounted on concrete blocks and each will weigh about 1,000 pounds complete. If purchased from a factory, they cost about $200 each. However, the lights were made here, their cost being borne by local advertisers. Green lenses, used on the four sides of the lights, were furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, while the painting was done by Chief of Police McDermott.

Connecting wires will be run from overhead cables supporting the trolley wires. Painted in white and a light blue they will be noticeable either in daylight or darkness.

Approximately $1,000 of the $2,500 which council recently voted to transfer from the general fund to the safety department fund will be used in the purchase of three traffic signal lights, Mayor Brown said today. The new lights, which are to be erected on Fifth street at the postoffice, at Market street and at Jefferson street, are of the three light system and will be operated from the police booth in the Diamond. Other lights may be installed later at busy intersections.

Curtis Must Go to Jail

there was every reason why they should have adhered to that perjured story. x x x It seems quite certain from this record that except for their repentance and confession the state never could have made a case against any of these parties except that of violation of the liquor and gambling laws.

"It is easy to organize a conspiracy for any purpose, but the instances are rare when a conspiracy on the part of a large number of people can succeed to a point where it does not ultimately meet disaster and punishment. This is what has happened to the real conspiracy in this case, which we believe, was the only conspiracy. It is impossible to read this record in its entirety without feeling that the testimony of these conspirators has the ring of truth and that the defendant is guilty as charged in the indictment."

plain warning that the rights of Americans in Mexico must be recognized and protected as we protect the rights of Mexican citizens here.

Americans feel that President Calles is earnest in his effort to give Mexico a firm constitutional government. But President Calles' task is difficult. There is an inclination in Mexico to look upon American enterprise and American capital as "absorbers of Mexican resources." That is about as intelligent as to say that tractors, fertilizers and irrigation absorb a farm's resources.

Texas and California were once part of Mexico. They have had American enterprise and capital applied to them, and they are not exactly depleted.

A tendency has been shown in Mexico to "33" foreigners and appropriate their property. The verb "to 33" has been coined in honor of the clause 33 in the Mexico constitution, which allows Mexico's governing powers to declare any foreigner "a public enemy," and expel him without letting him take his property with him.

That was all very well in the old days, when the Turkish sultan ordered Charles XII to go home to Sweden. But it is out of date on the North American continent.

President Calles, intelligent, thoroughly understanding modern conditions, will doubtless do all he can to meet the American government half way. He is well aware that American capital, enterprise and engineers are exactly what Mexico needs.

In ancient days, augurs, fortelling the future, paid especial attention to the flight of birds, especially ravens and all birds that were black.

These ancients would be interested in the flight of a modern black crow at Tonawanda, in Pennsylvania. Its extended wings touched at the same time two wires carrying a high tension current of 33,000 volt power, short circuiting the system.

A farmer's warehouse and one barn were burned down.

Fire started in a dozen homes when the power line fell across a telephone wire. Several persons were shocked Light, power and telephone service were cut off for hours and three cows were killed nibbling grass through a wire fence that came in contact with the high voltage line.

Can you imagine how those fundamentalists augurs would have said to the three cows, "Let that teach you to watch the flight of birds?"

The augurs would never guess that the real trouble was inside the copper wires.

G. R. Brown, who demonstrates the beauty of brevity in a newspaper, observes that Representative Langley, of Kentucky, arrested for drunkenness, is indicted on an accusation "that Henry Clay would have regarded as a compliment."

You might add Daniel Webster to Henry Clay and Pitt, prime minister of England in Napoleon's time.

Mr. Brown also worries mildly about "the safety of 5,000 missionaries now in China."

When a Chinese mob starts on a rampage, its fury lights upon Europeans, and especially upon missionaries earnestly striving to replace false old beliefs with new.

That horrifies us, unless we recall what American mobs have done to Chinese and others. Think what a first-class American mob on the warpath would do to any Chinese missionary caught urging American children to change to Confusius, Buddha, or Shintoism for Christianity.

However, the missionaries will stand their ground and meet the consequences with courage. They know that the power which they represent can at any moment save them and overwhelm the enemy by the slightest miracle. If they did not believe that they could not be real missionaries.

County Motor Club Will Aid in Brake And Headlight Tests

The board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club pledged their co-operation in the proposed brake and headlight tests which may be launched throughout the county under the direction of the sheriff's office, at a meeting held in the office of H. C. Armstrong, Lisbon, last evening.

The directors also voted their assistance to the safety departments in the municipalities of the county in like campaigns.

The club discussed the proposed discontinuance of issuing of automobile licenses at the Salem office, but the matter was referred to a committee from Salem, which will meet tonight. Under a new state law, deputy automobile registrars are permitted to charge a 15-cent fee for issuing tags.

In order to obtain a license, the applicant must show a bill of sale, produce a tax receipt, showing he has paid personal taxes on his car and make affidavit as to the truth of his statements. The auto club declares that the 15-cent fee is insufficient to meet the cost of the license distribution.

ROTARY SCORES INTOLERANCE

Chieftain's Address Assails Hate, Urges True Charity.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—What was construed as a direct reference to the Ku Klux Klan was contained in the presidential address of Everett W. Hill, of Oklahoma City, Okla., opening the business sessions of the sixteenth annual convention of Rotary International here today.

"The spirit of intolerance," Hill said, "has recently gripped the nations and successfully defied the exorcism of all true charity. Rising from the dust wherein it has reposed since the expiration of the middle ages, it has come forth once more to vex the souls of men. For four years, one half of the world's population was urged to hate, to maim, to kill. We find in the ghastly backwash of that tragic era the spirit of repression, of passion, of revenge.

"No matter how free may be the charter of a nation, it is no longer easy to gain a respectful hearing. No longer is the right of conscience freely conceded, no longer are the innate rights of men unchallenged. Into the market and furum we have transplanted the bitterness of the camp and refuse too often to concede the right to a contrary opinion."

"Unselfish Service" is Panacea.

Hill urged the practice of "unselfish service" as the panacea for the ills suffered from a world drunk with hate and revenge.

Delegates from overseas Rotary clubs were presented from the platform at the first session today. There are thirty nations represented in the list of delegates. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented and approved.

At noon luncheons in honor of Rotary district governors finishing their terms of office and for those who have been nominated for this office will be held.

12 Killed, 50 Hurt

that remained on the tracks did all they could to help the injured. But as they were without medicine or bandages they were unable to give much assistance until after the first of the nurses and doctors arrived.

"The injured were taken in private automobiles and in ambulances to Hackettstown, Morristown, Washington and Easton."

Death List May Increase.

The wrecked train, according to some of the passengers, was making fast time when the accident occurred.

One doctor said at 9:45 this morning that the death list would be greatly increased from 12 later, as some of the injured were in a critical condition.

The engineer of the train was killed outright. The conductor was so badly hurt it is feared he will die.

The first two coaches were filled with steam immediately after the impact, scalding many of the passengers.

The engine ploughed through the sand and dirt for 30 feet after it struck the switch. The two coaches immediately behind piled up on top of the engine.

Train Carried 182 Passengers.

The killed included the engineer, fireman and brakeman of the train, and a man, a woman and a child, passengers in the first car.

There were 182 passengers on the train.

The first coach piled on top of the engine, the second coach followed the first and lay crosswise on top of the heap and the third car, a sleeper, smashed into the wreckage ahead.

The wreck occurred during the height of the storm. Rain was pouring down, lightning flashed and thunder boomed. Then came the smash.

At daylight, steam still poured from the broken pipes of the engine. Railroad workers and volunteer rescue workers searched among the wreckage for hours.

News of the accident spread rapidly and farmers, and their wives, for miles around, came to Rockford in automobiles.

Passengers in the coaches that remained on the tracks were unhurt, although some were badly shaken up and the windows in the cars broken.

Partial List of Victims.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Here is a partial list of the dead and injured in the Lackawanna wreck at Rockport, near here, today.

The dead:

HELEN WAGNER, five years old.

HENRY STEFFENS, Chicago.

The injured:

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Heimig, Mrs. Henry Karling, Miss Jeannette Jurgensen, Joseph Sauer, Charles Sauer, Irene Wenglemein, Mrs. Wenglemein, Rhinhold Pesehke, Joseph Lafoide, Joseph Brunner, Helen Brunner, Theodore Jurgensen, Mr. and Mrs. Clendel, Mr. and Mrs. Bernherdt, Mary Zink, Mrs. Theodore Einst, Charles Hock, Clara Westleberg, Hulda Heahmke, Rudolph Prouk, Phillip Schmidt, William Wisechenkein, Mrs. Emma Reckersing and John Heigh.

Dr. Tucker

the intricate Book of Revelations, the final one in the Bible.

An unusually interesting and pertinent theme in the light of what recently occurred in Japan and more recently in certain sections of America, will be that on Wednesday evening when he will discuss, "Earthquakes of History and Prophecy."

"Always," affirmed Dr. Tucker, "has my subject for Thursday evening, which will be my last appearance here, attracted many. It will be 'The Social Situation in the Light of God' in which present day homes and modern tendencies of the people will be discussed."

Period of Song and Music.

Preceding Dr. Tucker's discourse another period of song and music, which has held and captivated those hearing them, was given by the artistic members of his party. Miss Allie May Schmidt, accompanied by violin and harp, sang "One Day." Miss Evelyn McKee Coons gave as her harp number "The Last Rose of Summer," with variations and Miss Cora Bell Young in a medley of gospel hymns charmed with the violin.

Following the speaking, Miss Schmidt again accompanied by harp and violin, sang "Peace, Sweet Peace."

The invocation was made by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church and the benediction was given by Adjutant A. H. Dean of the Salvation Army.

Dr. Tucker utilized a huge chart on which was depicted the Sixteen prophetical books, each carrying a replica of what the great artist Matin conceived to be the likeness and chief characteristics of the phophets. He declared them "Broadcasting in advance the events of the advents." He maintained there were 333 events in the first advent and 666 prophecies concerning the second advent.

Dr. Tucker paid a tribute to the peculiar knowledge to be found only in the brief book of Jude which precedes the Revelations. "But for it we would not know that the devil and the Archangel Michael fought for the body of Moses; certain things anent angels and of the anti-diluvian age and that Enoch was a prophet who prophesied concerning the coming of the Lord. 'Behold He cometh with 10,000 of his saints.'"

That all the prophecies, built together, make "the figure of Jesus Christ" was the emphatic observation of the speaker. "Their information came from God, was moved by the Holy Spirit." Consequently he held "Any man who speaks lightly of prophecies blasphemes the Holy Ghost."

Isaiah was held to evangelical in tendencies, Jeremiah sorrowful, Ezekial parabolical, Daniel political, Joel penteccstal, Hosea evangelistic, Amos symbolical, Obediah a man of indignation, Jonah a prodigal, Micah one of pacification, Nahum a declarer of punishment, Malachi the seer of sunrise, Hobakuk given to patience, Haggie to promise and Zachariah apolyptic.

Though having spoken thrice on Sunday Dr. Tucker appeared vigorous despite that on Monday during the day he had written "comments on three Sunday school lessons for his magazine, edited five editorials, dictated an article on Bolshevism, prepared a seven-page paper on the prophecy of Daniel and composed three verses of poetry."

Because of what purported to be an approaching storm the services were slightly abbreviated that those in attendance might hurry safely to their homes.

JURORS HEAR ATTACK STORY

Reed Child, 10, Tells of Alleged Assault by Man, 51.

Ten-year-old Edna May Reed, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Reed, of Mannington, W. Va., former residents of Newell and East Liverpool, is the prosecuting witness against W. E. Straight, 51, of Mannington, who is on trial in the Fairmont criminal court today upon an indictment charging him with criminal assault.

Straight was arrested about two weeks ago, following an alleged attack upon the girl. The jury was selected yesterday, but considerable difficulty was experienced because several of the prospective veniremen had formed opinions in the matter or announced themselves as being opposed to capital punishment.

On the witness stand yesterday the child, in a thin voice that could scarcely be heard even by the jury, told her story. She said the defendant lured her into his home on the promise of giving her candy. She resumed her testimony today.

Two physicians, who examined the child, were to be called by the state today. The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon or early Wednesday morning. Prosecuting Attorney Marshall Ogden is asking that Straight be given the maximum penalty, provided by the West Virginia statutes.

The Reed family is well known in the East Liverpool district.

Mid-week Prayer Service.

Owing to the absence of Dr. F. G. Fowler, Mrs. Arthur Savage, of Chester, will be in charge of the mid-week prayer service in the First Methodist Episcopal church at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Evangelist Opens Tent Meetings Near Bloomfield School

Evangelist T. L. Terry of Ludlow, Ky., will open a two weeks' series of tent meetings, adjoining the Bloomfield school, three miles north of here, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

He will be assisted by William Richardson, Pittsburgh gospel singer and song leader. Services, which will be inter-denominational, will be held each evening.

The meetings will be under a waterproof tent, having a seating capacity of about 150 persons.

The kitchen garden at Hampton Court Palace, London, is to be converted into golf putting greens and tennis courts.

People Don't Look at Strikes The Way They Used to

In the olden days when people knew little or nothing about costs, and accounting was a very crude thing, and a man sold his product for a price he just "guessed" was right (and frequently sold it at a loss)—in those old days, people were always "for" the strikers—any strikers—just on general principles.

Those times have changed all around.

Men have learned to analyse things; they have learned to find out exactly what a given thing costs, and they have learned also to determine accurately who pays the cost. They have learned by bitter experiences that strikes cost the public money—lots of it. They have learned that if the strikers win an increase the public has to pay it.

People don't look at strikes in the old way since they have learned how close home it comes to the public.

* * * * * * *

Are you willing to help pay an extra dollar a day to the carpenters who are on strike, or do you think that $10 a day is pretty good wages nowadays for that kind of work?

The carpenters were offered $10; they are striking for a dollar more a day. Who are they striking against?

However, the lights were made here, their cost being borne by local advertisers. Green lenses, used on the four sides of the lights, were furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, while the painting was done by Chief of Police McDermott.

Connecting wires will be run from overhead cables supporting the trolley wires. Painted in white and a light blue they will be noticeable either in daylight or darkness.

Approximately $1,000 of the $2,500 which council recently voted to transfer from the general fund to the safety department fund will be used in the purchase of three traffic signal lights, Mayor Brown said today. The new lights, which are to be erected on Fifth street at the postoffice, at Market street and at Jefferson street, are of the three light system and will be operated from the police booth in the Diamond. Other lights may be installed later at busy intersections.

there was every reason why they should have adhered to that perjured story. x x x. It seems quite certain from this record that except for their repentance and confession the state never could have made a case against any of these parties except that of violation of the liquor and gambling laws.

"It is easy to organize a conspiracy for any purpose, but the instances are rare when a conspiracy on the part of a large number of people can succeed to a point where it does not ultimately meet disaster and punishment. This is what has happened to the real conspiracy in this case, which we believe, was the only conspiracy. It is impossible to read this record in its entirety without feeling that the testimony of these conspirators has the ring of truth and that the defendant is guilty as charged in the indictment."

plain warning that the rights of Americans in Mexico must be recognized and protected as we protect the rights of Mexican citizens here.

Americans feel that President Calles is earnest in his effort to give Mexico a firm constitutional government. But President Calles' task is difficult. There is an inclination in Mexico to look upon American enterprise and American capital as "absorbers of Mexican resources." That is about as intelligent as to say that tractors, fertilizers and irrigation absorb a farm's resources.

Texas and California were once part of Mexico. They have had American enterprise and capital applied to them, and they are not exactly depleted.

A tendency has been shown in Mexico to "33" foreigners and appropriate their property. The verb "to 33" has been coined in honor of the clause 33 in the Mexico constitution, which allows Mexico's governing powers to declare any foreigner "a public enemy," and expel him without letting him take his property with him.

That was all very well in the old days, when the Turkish sultan ordered Charles XII to go home to Sweden. But it is out of date on the North American continent.

President Calles, intelligent, thoroughly understanding modern conditions, will doubtless do all he can to meet the American government half way. He is well aware that American capital, enterprise and engineers are exactly what Mexico needs.

In ancient days, augurs, fortelling the future, paid especial attention to the flight of birds, especially ravens and all birds that were black.

These ancients would be interested in the flight of a modern black crow at Tonawanda, in Pennsylvania. Its extended wings touched at the same time two wires carrying a high tension current of 33,000 volt power, short circuiting the system.

A farmer's warehouse and one barn were burned down.

Fire started in a dozen homes when the power line fell across a telephone wire. Several persons were shocked. Light, power and telephone service were cut off for hours and three cows were killed nibbling grass through a wire fence that came in contact with the high voltage line.

Can you imagine how those fundamentalists augurs would have said to the three cows, "Let that teach you to watch the flight of birds?"

The augurs would never guess that the real trouble was inside the copper wires.

G. R. Brown, who demonstrates the beauty of brevity in a newspaper, observes that Representative Langley, of Kentucky, arrested for drunkenness, is indicted on an accusation "that Henry Clay would have regarded as a compliment."

You might add Daniel Webster to Henry Clay and Pitt, prime minister of England in Napoleon's time.

Mr. Brown also worries mildly about "the safety of 5,000 missionaries now in China."

When a Chinese mob starts on a rampage, its fury lights upon Europeans, and especially upon missionaries earnestly striving to replace false old beliefs with new.

That horrifies us, unless we recall what American mobs have done to Chinese and others. Think what a first-class American mob on the warpath would do to any Chinese missionary caught urging American children to change to Confusius, Buddha, or Shintoism for Christianity.

However, the missionaries will stand their ground and meet the consequences with courage. They know that the power which they represent can at any moment save them and overwhelm the enemy by the slightest miracle. If they did not believe that they could not be real missionaries.

County Motor Club Will Aid in Brake And Headlight Tests

The board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club pledged their co-operation in the proposed brake and headlight tests which may be launched throughout the county under the direction of the sheriff's office, at a meeting held in the office of H. C. Armstrong, Lisbon, last evening.

The directors also voted their assistance to the safety departments in the municipalities of the county in like campaigns.

The club discussed the proposed discontinuance of issuing of automobile licenses at the Salem office, but the matter was referred to a committee from Salem, which will meet tonight. Under a new state law, deputy automobile registrars are permitted to charge a 15-cent fee for issuing tags.

In order to obtain a license, the applicant must show a bill of sale, produce a tax receipt, showing he has paid personal taxes on his car and make affidavit as to the truth of his statements. The auto club declares that the 15-cent fee is insufficient to meet the cost of the license distribution.

ROTARY SCORES INTOLERANCE

Chieftain's Address Assails Hate, Urges True Charity.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—What was construed as a direct reference to the Ku Klux Klan was contained in the presidential address of Everett W. Hill, of Oklahoma City, Okla., opening the business sessions of the sixteenth annual convention of Rotary International here today.

"The spirit of intolerance," Hill said, "has recently gripped the nations and successfully defied the exorcism of all true charity. Rising from the dust wherein it has reposed since the expiration of the middle ages, it has come forth once more to vex the souls of men. For four years, one half of the world's population was urged to hate, to maim, to kill. We find in the ghastly backwash of that tragic era the spirit of repression, of passion, of revenge.

"No matter how free may be the charter of a nation, it is no longer easy to gain a respectful hearing. No longer is the right of conscience freely conceded, no longer are the innate rights of men unchallenged. Into the market and furum we have transplanted the bitterness of the camp and refuse too often to concede the right to a contrary opinion."

"Unselfish Service" is Panacea.

Hill urged the practice of "unselfish service" as the panacea for the ills suffered from a world drunk with hate and revenge.

Delegates from overseas Rotary clubs were presented from the platform at the first session today. There are thirty nations represented in the list of delegates. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented and approved.

At noon luncheons in honor of Rotary district governors finishing their terms of office and for those who have been nominated for this office will be held.

12 Killed, 50 Hurt

that remained on the tracks did all they could to help the injured. But as they were without medicine or bandages they were unable to give much assistance until after the first of the nurses and doctors arrived.

"The injured were taken in private automobiles and in ambulances to Hackettstown, Morristown, Washington and Easton."

Death List May Increase.

The wrecked train, according to some of the passengers, was making fast time when the accident occurred.

One doctor said at 9:45 this morning that the death list would be greatly increased from 12 later, as some of the injured were in a critical condition.

The engineer of the train was killed outright. The conductor was so badly hurt it is feared he will die.

The first two coaches were filled with steam immediately after the impact, scalding many of the passengers.

The engine ploughed through the sand and dirt for 30 feet after it struck the switch. The two coaches immediately behind piled up on top of the engine.

Train Carried 182 Passengers.

The killed included the engineer, fireman and brakeman of the train, and a man, a woman and a child, passengers in the first car.

There were 182 passengers on the train.

The first coach piled on top of the engine, the second coach followed the first and lay crosswise on top of the heap and the third car, a sleeper, smashed into the wreckage ahead.

The wreck occurred during the height of the storm. Rain was pouring down, lightning flashed and thunder boomed. Then came the smash.

At daylight, steam still poured from the broken pipes of the engine. Railroad workers and volunteer rescue workers searched among the wreckage for hours.

News of the accident spread rapidly and farmers, and their wives, for miles around, came to Rockford in automobiles.

Passengers in the coaches that remained on the tracks were unhurt, although some were badly shaken up and the windows in the cars broken.

Partial List of Victims.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16. Here is a partial list of the dead and injured in the Lackawanna wreck at Rockport, near here, today.

The dead:

HELEN WAGNER, five years old.

HENRY STEFFENS, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Heimig, Mrs. Henry Karling, Miss Jeannette Jurgensen, Joseph Sauer, Charles Sauer, Irene Wenglemein, Mrs. Wenglemein, Rhinhold Pesehke, Joseph Lafolde, Joseph Brunner, Helen Brunner, Theodore Jurgensen, Mr. and Mrs. Clendel, Mr. and Mrs. Bernherdt, Mary Zink, Mrs. Theodore Einst, Charles Hock, Clara Westleberg, Hulda Heahmke, Rudolph Prouk, Phillip Schmidt, William Wisechenkein, Mrs. Emma Reckersing and John Heigh.

the intricate Book of Revelations, the final one in the Bible.

An unusually interesting and pertinent theme in the light of what recently occurred in Japan and more recently in certain sections of America, will be that on Wednesday evening when he will discuss, "Earthquakes of History and Prophecy."

"Always," affirmed Dr. Tucker, "has my subject for Thursday evening, which will be my last appearance here, attracted many. It will be 'The Social Situation in the Light of God' in which present day homes and modern tendencies of the people will be discussed."

Period of Song and Music.

Preceding Dr. Tucker's discourse another period of song and music, which has held and captivated those hearing them, was given by the artistic members of his party. Miss Allie May Schmidt, accompanied by violin and harp, sang "One Day." Miss Evelyn McKee Coons gave as her harp number "The Last Rose of Summer," with variations and Miss Cora Bell Young in a medley of gospel hymns charmed with the violin.

Following the speaking, Miss Schmidt again accompanied by harp and violin, sang "Peace, Sweet Peace."

The invocation was made by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church and the benediction was given by Adjutant A. H. Dean of the Salvation Army.

Dr. Tucker utilized a huge chart on which was depicted the Sixteen prophetical books, each carrying a replica of what the great artist Martin conceived to be the likeness and chief characteristics of the phophets. He declared them "Broadcasting in advance the events of the advents." He maintained there were 333 events in the first advent and 666 prophecies concerning the second advent.

Dr. Tucker paid a tribute to the peculiar knowledge to be found only in the brief book of Jude which precedes the Revelations. "But for it we would not know that the devil and the Archangel Michael fought for the body of Moses; certain things anent angels and of the anti-diluvian age and that Enoch was a prophet who prophesied concerning the coming of the Lord. 'Behold He cometh with 10,000 of his saints.'"

That all the prophecies, built together, make "the figure of Jesus Christ" was the emphatic observation of the speaker. "Their information came from God, was moved by the Holy Spirit." Consequently he held "Any man who speaks lightly of prophecies blasphemes the Holy Ghost."

Isaiah was held to evangelical in tendencies, Jeremiah sorrowful, Ezekial parabolical, Daniel political, Joel pentecostal, Hosea evangelistic, Amos symbolical, Obediah a man of indignation, Jonah a prodigal, Micah one of pacification, Nahum a declarer of punishment, Malachi the seer of sunrise, Hobakuk given to patience, Haggie to promise and Zachariah apoiyptic.

Though having spoken thrice on Sunday Dr. Tucker appeared vigorous despite that on Monday during the day he had written "comments on three Sunday school lessons for his magazine, edited five editorials, dictated an article on Bolshevism, prepared a seven-page paper on the prophecy of Daniel and composed three verses of poetry."

Because of what purported to be an approaching storm the services were slightly abbreviated that those in attendance might hurry safely to their homes.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Lightning struck a glancing blow at the giant Equitable building in the financial district, daring the height of a severe electrical storm early this morning.

JURORS HEAR ATTACK STORY

Reed Child, 10, Tells of Alleged Assault by Man, 51.

Ten-year-old Edna May Reed, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Reed, of Mannington, W. Va., former residents of Newell and East Liverpool, is the prosecuting witness against W. E. Straight, 51, of Mannington, who is on trial in the Fairmont criminal court today upon an indictment charging him with criminal assault.

Straight was arrested about two weeks ago, following an alleged attack upon the girl. The jury was selected yesterday, but considerable difficulty was experienced because several of the prospective veniremen had formed opinions in the matter or announced themselves as being opposed to capital punishment.

On the witness stand yesterday the child, in a thin voice that could scarcely be heard even by the jury, told her story. She said the defendant lured her into his home on the promise of giving her candy. She resumed her testimony today.

Two physicians, who examined the child, were to be called by the state today. The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon or early Wednesday morning. Prosecuting Attorney Marshall Ogden is asking that Straight be given the maximum penalty, provided by the West Virginia statutes.

The Reed family is well known in the East Liverpool district.

The meetings will be under a waterproof tent, having a seating capacity of about 150 persons.

People Don't Look at Strikes The Way They Used to

In the olden days when people knew little or nothing about costs, and accounting was a very crude thing, and a man sold his product for a price he just "guessed" was right (and frequently sold it at a loss)—in those old days, people were always "for" the strikers—any strikers—just on general principles.

Those times have changed all around.

Men have learned to analyse things; they have learned to find out exactly what a given thing costs, and they have learned also to determine accurately who pays the cost. They have learned by bitter experiences that strikes cost the public money—lots of it. They have learned that if the strikers win an increase the public has to pay it.

People don't look at strikes in the old way since they have learned how close home it comes to the public.

* * * * * * *

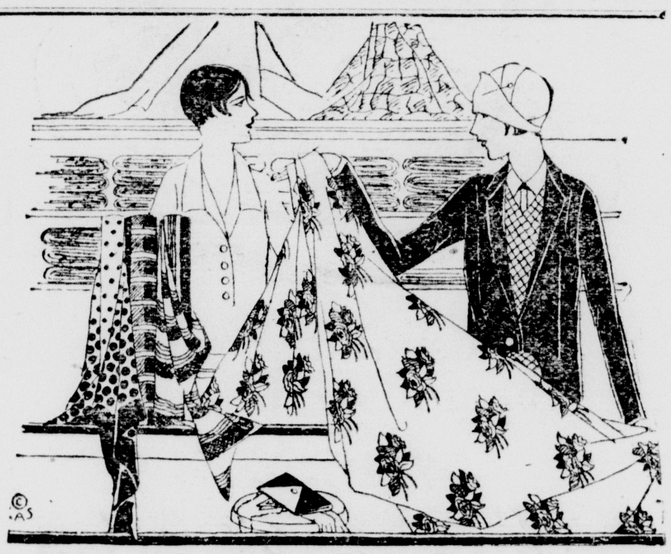

Are you willing to help pay an extra dollar a day to the carpenters who are on strike, or do you think that $10 a day is pretty good wages nowadays for that kind of work?

The carpenters were offered $10; they are striking for a dollar more a day. Who are they striking against?

RIVER WATER IN USE AGAIN

Gravity System Dam Will be Drained for Few Days.

For the next week or 10 days the city will be using its old source of water supply—The Ohio river, according to announcement today by Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis.

The river water, it is said, will be turned into the mains today. Operations at the pumphouse, which has been down for several weeks, will be resumed temporarily.

This is being done, Director Dennis explained, in order that the painting of the gate house can be completed.

All the water, approximately 24 feet in depth, will be drained from the dam. In addition to the painting work employes of the Hineman company will also clean out the dam, removing debris that has accumulated from construction operations.

Inasmuch as the water works pumps are not in any too good condition, city officials are asking water users to be as sparing as possible until the new system goes into operation again.

PERFECTS TIRE TURNING TOOL

Machine Shop Foreman Fred G. Hurst, of the Wellsville C. & P. shops, has perfected a tire cutting or turning machine for the purpose of turning, resurfacing or smoothing up the faces of the tires on locomotives that promise to become a big factor in keeping locomotives in service, says the Pennsylvania News.

The device is in use in the Wellsville, Cambridge and Kinsman street shops.

The increased weight of the locomotives now in use on the Pennsylvania railroad has caused the tires to wear more rapidly than formerly and the keeping of tire surfaces in shape has become a big factor in the continuous operation of a locomotive.

In the past it has been necessary to place the locomotive in the shop, remove the tires and place them in a lathe for the purpose of turning them true to line. Aoften the operation required several days and kept the power out of service that long.

In the planning of his device, Hurst had the assistance of Gang Foreman G. H. Crawford and his ideas were put into steel by W. H. Davidson, machinist.

In three months trials of the device, 30 locomotives have had their tires turned without dismantling. The chief principle of Hurst's device is that it is operated conclusively by the pair of wheels which are being turned, whereas all other known devices depend upon another pair of wheels or other arrangement to feed the cutter bit on to the tire.

The tool is being manufactured in the Wellsville shops under Hurst's direction.

GOVERNOR GORE VISITS COUNTY

Chief Executive Heads Delegation on Road Inspection.

Governor Howard M. Gore, accompanied by President James S. Lakin, of the state board of control; Captain H. E. Snyder, state highway engineer; C. P. Fortney, C. E. Hiner and Dr. E. B. Stephenson of the state road commission, made a tour of inspection yesterday of roads in Ohio, Brooke and Hancock counties.

The entire day was spent in the above counties and nearly every artery of traffic in the panhandle system was reached, according to an announcement by Samuel T. Mallison, executive secretary to the governor, upon the return of the party to Moundsville last night.

It was intimated by members of the party that some additional improvements other than those included in the general program may be made during the summer and fall in this district.

President Lakin, of the board of control, it was intimated, will confer with the members of the highway commission on sending out at least 500 prison inmates with a view of speeding up improvements.

EVICTION CASES BEFORE COURT

Brooke county circuit court opened yesterday at Wellsburg with Judge J. B. Summerville on the bench. Counsel for the coal companies suggested that the cases be merged but this was opposed by attorneys for the men. Trials may run well into September if the above plan is followed, was the announcement of the court.

LABOR SITUATION IS SATISFACTORY

The labor situation in West Virginia is far more satisfactory than elsewhere in the country, according to Francis I. Jones, director general of the United States employment service, in Huntington to confer with J. A. Martindale, examiner in charge of the service's city hall offices.

"Conditions throughout the United States have shown improvement in the last 60 days, but especially in this state has the unemployed labor been absorbed," said Mr. Jones.

Commenting on the mining industry, Mr. Jones said that West Virginia is not suffering like other mining territories, although conditions in this state are still below normal. Gradual improvement is noted, however.

While the iron and steel industries have eased up somewhat in recent weeks, there is no heavy unemployment in this class of labor. The textile industry is on an upward trend.

"West Virginia is fast becoming recognized as one of the coming industrial states of the union," said Mr. Jones. "The service we now maintain in Huntington, Charleston and Clarksburg is to be enlarged to embrace Bluefield and Wheeling and later other sections of the state may be included."

Explaining the service, Mr. Jones said it is meeting with unusual success throughout the country. He pointed out that during the harvest season in the southwest and northwest the department has charge of moving labor from belt to belt as the crops are harvested.

PUNCH BOARD LICENSES ISSUED

Thirteen licenses to operate punch boards have been issued to Weirton drug store and pool room proprietors since Judge J. Harold Brennan in Hancock county circuit court last week, ruled on a petition for a writ of mandamus, ordered the clerk of the county court to sell licenses for punch boards. Nine licenses were issued the first day following the ruling of the court.

According to deputies at the office of the county clerk, Sheriff J. A. Tope and officials of the state tax commissioner's office had advised against issuing licenses to run punch boards in the county, and because of this no licenses were being issued for this purpose in Hancock county. Application for a writ of mandamus was made in circuit court by counsel for a Weirton merchant.

County officials said that although Weirton merchants were the only ones thus far to secure licenses to operate punch boards, others else where in the county had indicated they would secure licenses when the new tax period started July 1.

The Resas Tone-A-Dyne
The Set With the Tone Modulator.
List Price $78.00
Sale Price $35.00
THE perfected RESAS TONE-A-DYNE embodies every advantageous feature claimed for any 5 tube set, plus the Tone Modulator, a feature that is to be had only with the TONE-A-DYNE.
As its name implies, the Tone Modulator controls the tone and volume at all times and under all operating conditions. Nothing complicated or difficult about it. Simply a turn of the knob and the musical or vocal selection assumes its most pleasant volume.
The Tone-A-Dyne is non-radiating. Annoyance from squeals and howls is eliminated.
The selectivity of the Tone-A-Dyne is almost uncanny. With local stations broadcasting on a wave length only 5 meters away, station WHAS (Louisville) has been readily tuned in without interference on a short indoor aerial.
The Tone-A-Dyne is so designed that it can be operated by anyone without previous experience. The three tuning dials are acurately calibrated and matched so that their settings practically correspond. There is only one filament control, and this can be set at the best operating point on reception of the first station. A snap switch controls all tubes. Clearly marked binding posts are provided in the rear for all connections.
The perfected TONE-A-DYNE is the ideal receiver. West Coast broadcasting stations are heard regularly in the East in this instrumet. It can be used on even a small indoor antenna, and on local receiving, it functions with a ground only.

RIVER WATER IN USE AGAIN

Gravity System Dam Will be Drained for Few Days.

For the next week or 10 days the city will be using its old source of water supply—The Ohio river, according to announcement today by Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis.

The river water, it is said, will be turned into the mains today. Operations at the pumphouse, which has been down for several weeks, will be resumed temporarily.

This is being done, Director Dennis explained, in order that the painting of the gate house can be completed.

All the water, approximately 24 feet in depth, will be drained from the dam. In addition to the painting work employes of the Hineman company will also clean out the dam, removing debris that has accumulated from construction operations.

Inasmuch as the water works pumps are not in any too good condition, city officials are asking water users to be as sparing as possible until the new system goes into operation again.

PERFECTS TIRE TURNING TOOL

Machine Shop Foreman Fred G. Hurst, of the Wellsville C. & P. shops, has perfected a tire cutting or turning machine for the purpose of turning, resurfacing or smoothing up the faces of the tires on locomotives that promise to become a big factor in keeping locomotives in service, says the Pennsylvania News.

The device is in use in the Wellsville, Cambridge and Kinsman street shops.

The increased weight of the locomotives now in use on the Pennsylvania railroad has caused the tires to wear more rapidly than formerly and the keeping of tire surfaces in shape has become a big factor in the continuous operation of a locomotive.

In the past it has been necessary to place the locomotive in the shop, remove the tires and place them in a lathe for the purpose of turning them true to line. Aoften the operation required several days and kept the power out of service that long.

In the planning of his device, Hurst had the assistance of Gang Foreman G. H. Crawford and his ideas were put into steel by W. H. Davidson, machinist.

In three months trials of the device, 30 locomotives have had their tires turned without dismantling. The chief principle of Hurst's device is that it is operated conclusively by the pair of wheels which are being turned, whereas all other known devices depend upon another pair of wheels or other arrangement to feed the cutter bit on to the tire.

The tool is being manufactured in the Wellsville shops under Hurst's direction.

GOVERNOR GORE VISITS COUNTY

Chief Executive Heads Delegation on Road Inspection.

Governor Howard M. Gore, accompanied by President James S. Lakin, of the state board of control; Captain H. E. Snyder, state highway engineer; C. P. Fortney, C. E. Hiner and Dr. E. B. Stephenson of the state road commission, made a tour of inspection yesterday of roads in Ohio, Brooke and Hancock counties.

The entire day was spent in the above counties and nearly every artery of traffic in the panhandle system was reached, according to an announcement by Samuel T. Mallison, executive secretary to the governor, upon the return of the party to Moundsville last night.

It was intimated by members of the party that some additional improvements other than those included in the general program may be made during the summer and fall in this district.

President Lakin, of the board of control, it was intimated, will confer with the members of the highway commission on sending out at least 500 prison inmates with a view of speeding up improvements.

EVICTION CASES BEFORE COURT

Brooke county circuit court opened yesterday at Wellsburg with Judge J. B. Summerville on the bench. The first cases called were those in which the West Virginia-Pittsburgh coal company is seeking to evict 150 former employes from the company houses. Counsel for the coal companies suggested that the cases be merged but this was opposed by attorneys for the men. Trials may run well into September if the above plan is followed, was the announcement of the court.

LABOR SITUATION IS SATISFACTORY

The labor situation in West Virginia is far more satisfactory than elsewhere in the country, according to Francis I. Jones, director general of the United States employment service, in Huntington to confer with J. A. Martindale, examiner in charge of the service's city hall offices.

"Conditions throughout the United States have shown improvement in the last 60 days, but especially in this state has the unemployed labor been absorbed," said Mr. Jones.

Commenting on the mining industry, Mr. Jones said that West Virginia is not suffering like other mining territories, although conditions in this state are still below normal. Gradual improvement is noted, however.

While the iron and steel industries have eased up somewhat in recent weeks, there is no heavy unemployment in this class of labor. The textile industry is on an upward trend.

"West Virginia is fast becoming recognized as one of the coming industrial states of the union," said Mr. Jones. "The service we now maintain in Huntington, Charleston and Clarksburg is to be enlarged to embrace Bluefield and Wheeling and later other sections of the state may be included."

Explaining the service, Mr. Jones said it is meeting with unusual success throughout the country. He pointed out that during the harvest season in the southwest and northwest the department has charge of moving labor from belt to belt as the crops are harvested.

PUNCH BOARD LICENSES ISSUED

Thirteen licenses to operate punch boards have been issued to Weirton drug store and pool room proprietors since Judge J. Harold Brennan in Hancock county circuit court last week, ruled on a petition for a writ of mandamus, ordered the clerk of the county court to sell licenses for punch boards. Nine licenses were issued the first day following the ruling of the court.

According to deputies at the office of the county clerk, Sheriff J. A. Tope and officials of the state tax commissioner's office had advised against issuing licenses to run punch boards in the county, and because of this no licenses were being issued for this purpose in Hancock county. Application for a writ of mandamus was made in circuit court by counsel for a Weirton merchant.

County officials said that although Weirton merchants were the only ones thus far to secure licenses to operate punch boards, others else where in the county had indicated they would secure licenses when the new tax period started July 1.

Hoy and Vannaman were in the points for the Independent while Reese and McCready formed the battery for the home club.

Fishermen, Get Your License!

Columbiana county fishermen, if they use a rod and reel, must apply for licenses if they intend to emulate Izaak Walton this summer.

The bill, which was sponsored by Ohio sportsmen, was passed at the recent session of the legislature and is now effective. Licenses are issued by township clerks and the county auditor.

The law, in brief, requires: "All persons over 18 who use a rod and reel and are not on their own land must pay a license of $1.10. The 10 cents goes to the registrar, the dollar to the state fish and game division to be expended only for the betterment of fishing conditions. If you use a hand line or a cane pole and line, without a reel, no license will be required. Persons who fish on waters on their own land, or tenants of such land, are exempt from paying the fee. If they fish on other than their property, they must pay the license."

In calling anglers' attention to the enactment, Chief Dent O. Thompson, of the state fish and game division, announced that no drastic measures will be adopted by the game protectors while the law is being made effective. However, he suggests that fishermen, anxious to start on their vacations, will avoid possible trouble if they obtain their licenses before leaving home.

When sufficient time for anglers to familiarize themselves with the regulations has elapsed, game wardens will be instructed to arrest persons who violate the new law. The safe rule is to obtain a license before you visit your vacation nook.

Vulgarizing The Parks

The automobile, according to Stephen T. Mather, director of the National park service, is a symbol of the jazz age. He is referring especially to the automobile as used by camping tourists. He cares more about the parks than he does about the motorists. He doesn't mind their using the parks, and is cheerfully engaged in making the parks more accessible and serviceable to the campers; but he sounds a warning.

If genuine park lovers do not resist the tendency, he says, the touring automobile will bring in its train gas stations, hot dog stands and dance pavilions, along with the general clutter only too familiar now, and destroy the beauty of the public parks. The greatest menace to the parks is "vulgarizing."

"The motor camp at best is unattractive," he remarks, "and at its worst it is horrible." This is a judgment in which many campers will concur.

As to the extent of "popularizing" the parks, Mr. Mather says:

"We should not be carried away by the popular demand for recreation, nor should we attempt landscaping or reconstruction. If people do not care enough for natural beauty to leave their cars and climb afoot into the hills, let 'em drive on to the next cabaret and leave the parks for those who do."

Telegraphic Punctuation

A curious blunder occurred the other day in a telegram addressed to a baseball man. There had been a fight between Umpire Mageruth and Billy Webb, manager of the Buffalo team. President Toole, of the International league, thereupon sent a message, which was delivered in this form:

"Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report stop work today."

The umpire read the telegram, assumed that he was to "stop work today," and did so. It developed, however, that according to a now common practice in transmitting telegrams, the "stop" meant "period." Punctuated in the usual way of printed matter, the telegram would have read, "Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report, Work today." The telegram meant the opposite of what it seemed to mean.

It is easy enough to imagine cases in which such a misinterpretation might make serious trouble for the recipient, and possibly for the telegraph company. The incident may be illuminating to people who have been puzzled by the "stops" scattered through their telegrams. It may suggest to the telegraph companies, too, the advantage of using some less dubious scheme of punctuation.

To Amundsen's Aid

Amundsen is probably safe for the present, wherever he is, if he did not fall into the icy water of the Arctic ocean or come to grief in landing. He had equipment and provisions with him for an extended siege. There is perhaps an even chance that he and his American companion are either traveling over Arctic ice or waiting for rescue.

It is without despair, therefore, that America makes ready to join Norway and France in relief efforts. And the method adopted by this country seems likely to succeed, if any success is possible.

The MacMillan party, with its three airplanes, will be diverted from its original purpose to seek Amundsen as soon as it has established its base at Etah, which may be remembered as the base of Cook and Peary, and which is not very far from Amundsen's intended course. With those planes they should be able to cover a wide area quickly. If one or two planes go wrong, there will still be hope. Amundsen's greatest error, if errors there were, consisted in putting all his hopes and chances in one plane.

The leading industry in the United States at present is cutting up land into building allotments.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 16.—There are hundreds who play the dismal game of fighting off stary reality between midnight and dawn in New York. They eddy to false pleasures. To the lights! Hoping to drown black thoughts in the pot-pourri of glare and gaiety.

In one of these haunts a newspaper reporter found the following:

A girl dropped out of the life of a famous novelist and since then trying to find something other than a substitute.

A woman novelist drinking herself rapidly to death.

A cripple who, thirty hours later, threw himself to death from a hotel window.

A fairly well known newspaperman whose fiancee died ten years ago. This man gets up in the middle of the night occasionally and beats his head against the wall.

A girl who abandoned a lucrative job for the stage and had lived on 55 cents a day for seven days.

A girl, deserted by her husband, so frail that employment experts turned her down, now selling bootleg liquor to keep alive.

Altogether a depressing picture but a part of the three-ring circus known as New York. Nowhere is there greater loneliness than is to be found among those who drift from cabaret to cabaret and sit at lone tables after most folk have gone to bed.

They constitute a big and forlorn army. It is tragedy trying to wear the mask of the mime. Most of them have a stinging longing for home but will never go back. They have failed.

Frank Tinney used to have a comedy name which brought many chortles. He used it as a peg upon which to hang an occasional wheeze. It was Joe Zilch. This was real—the name of a husband of a girl in the show. She recently divorced him and said among other things she was tired of the comedy name. There is a chorus girl whose honest-to-goodness name is Dora Damm. There may be nothing in a name but somehow it is impossible to imagine stardom with a moniker like that.

I am ever confounded by the lines that provide the most mirth in musical comedies. This stopped a show the other night: The comedienne was departing and some one advised her to be careful not to lose her way. "Twenty years with a circus," she snapped, "and never lost a spangle." Pete Dailey pulled that one at least twenty years ago.

Canal street since the days when it was a prominent business thoroughfare has always been an interesting street. The swirl northward left it a bit shabby, but it still buzzes with colorful activity. In late years it has become a sort of curb hawkers bazaar—that is a section of it. Here is the leading market for magic. Future Hermanns may find all sorts of flibbergibbets with which to amaze friends. There are disappearin coins, vanishing handkerchiefs, breaking chains, decanters that your various colored waters and scores of other mysteries. The hawkers are hoarse, brown derbied men in blue serge who—like their circus portotypes—smoke hand rolled brown paper cigarettes.

Fred Stone, the actor, is bringing a touch of Texas to Gotham. He has purchased an 1,800 acre ranch in Connecticut and will stock it with Texas steers. He will also have a herd of horses. Rumor says Stone expects to retire in a few years and will spend the rest of his days "ranchinging it"—within motor distance of the Rialto.

A rancher in New York reminds me of Fred C. Kelly's quib. He was subwaying to Brooklyn and across from him sat a passenger with a bright new axe. "Ah," said Kelly, "a woodsman from Brooklyn!"

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I have felt as if something were falling out all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Chinese Puzzle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—The question of the disposition of China, of her partition, or her integrity, or what is to become of her, puzzles the western world. The problem of the open door and what to do about the railways in Manchuria and the coal mines occupies a large amount of statemen's time and newspaper space. Indeed it is a puzzle to almost every one except the Chinese.

A glance at a map of China discloses a vast expanse of territory sprawled over one-tenth of the earth's surface. Between one-fourth and one-fifth of the earth's population lives there. There is almost every kind of climate and every type of physiography. There is vast mineral wealth, including huge deposits of coal, iron, copper, tin, silver, gold, lead, zinc and salt. There is a wide diversity of agricultural products and a large assortment of animal species, both wild and domestic.

It is palpable, then, why western nations and Japan, seeking fields for their capital to exploit, should turn their eyes to China. That vast territory lies seemingly helpless and inviting, the population passive.

It is said that China is dying, breaking up, falling to pieces. It is said that she is a degenerate nation, too weak to maintain her own weight. That, however, is a western view.

With the Chinese, a very different view is taken of the matter. Those who understand the situation are not worrying about the future of their country.

China is old, so old she does not realize her age. She has watched the world go around for centuries. She has seen the Babylonian, the Egyptian, the Assyrian, the Chaldean, the Greek, the Roman, rize to great heights and fall. When Rome was struggling with Carthage, and when Europe knew only the savagery of forest tribes, China's imperial library contained thousands of volumes on philosophy.

China has had the Mongols, Manchus and others invade and overpower her, rule her for a paltry century or two and succumb to her deadly influence. She has seen the ages come and go and was withstood them. She is married to the ages and she knows she can never be divorced from them. The world wonders why occidentals go to China and never return, or, if they do, return as changed beings.

Subtle and Strong.

China knows her power, that subtle something which is stronger than armies and more deadly than bullets. Consider the two great alien dynasties that have ruled China. In 1234 the Khans swept everything before them, the beats of their horses' hoofs echoing from the Dnieper to the Yellow Sea. They overran all of Asia and descended like a desert hurricane on China. They boasted that in their path nothing could rear its head; that where their horses galloped cities once stood. Like the Huns of old they were invincible.

The Kin or Golden Dynasty was then in power in China. It put up a stiff resistance, but nothing could withstand the Mongols. They finally shut up the Kin emperor in one of the cities and besieged him. He killed

Fishermen, Get Your License!

Columbiana county fishermen, if they use a rod and reel, must apply for licenses if they intend to emulate Izaak Walton this summer.

The bill, which was sponsored by Ohio sportsmen, was passed at the recent session of the legislature and is now effective. Licenses are issued by township clerks and the county auditor.

The law, in brief, requires: "All persons over 18 who use a rod and reel and are not on their own land must pay a license of $1.10. The 10 cents goes to the registrar, the dollar to the state fish and game division to be expended only for the betterment of fishing conditions. If you use a hand line or a cane pole and line, without a reel, no license will be required. Persons who fish on waters on their own land, or tenants of such land, are exempt from paying the fee. If they fish on other than their property, they must pay the license."

In calling anglers' attention to the enactment, Chief Dent O. Thompson, of the state fish and game division, announced that no drastic measures will be adopted by the game protectors while the law is being made effective. However, he suggests that fishermen, anxious to start on their vacations, will avoid possible trouble if they obtain their licenses before leaving home.

When sufficient time for anglers to familiarize themselves with the regulations has elapsed, game wardens will be instructed to arrest persons who violate the new law. The safe rule is to obtain a license before you visit your vacation nook.

Vulgarizing The Parks

The automobile, according to Stephen T. Mather, director of the National park service, is a symbol of the jazz age. He is referring especially to the automobile as used by camping tourists. He cares more about the parks than he does about the motorists. He doesn't mind their using the parks, and is cheerfully engaged in making the parks more accessible and serviceable to the campers; but he sounds a warning.

If genuine park lovers do not resist the tendency, he says, the touring automobile will bring in its train gas stations, hot dog stands and dance pavilions, along with the general clutter only too familiar now, and destroy the beauty of the public parks. The greatest menace to the parks is "vulgarizing."

"The motor camp at best is unattractive," he remarks, "and at its worst it is horrible." This is a judgment in which many campers will concur.

As to the extent of "popularizing" the parks, Mr. Mather says:

"We should not be carried away by the popular demand for recreation, nor should we attempt landscaping or reconstruction. If people do not care enough for natural beauty to leave their cars and climb afoot into the hills, let 'em drive on to the next cabaret and leave the parks for those who do."

Telegraphic Punctuation

A curious blunder occurred the other day in a telegram addressed to a baseball man. There had been a fight between Umpire Mageruth and Billy Webb, manager of the Buffalo team. President Toole, of the International league, thereupon sent a message, which was delivered in this form:

"Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report stop work today."

The umpire read the telegram, assumed that he was to "stop work today," and did so. It developed, however, that according to a now common practice in transmitting telegrams, the "stop" meant "period." Punctuated in the usual way of printed matter, the telegram would have read, "Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report, Work today." The telegram meant the opposite of what it seemed to mean.

It is easy enough to imagine cases in which such a misinterpretation might make serious trouble for the recipient, and possibly for the telegraph company. The incident may be illuminating to people who have been puzzled by the "stops" scattered through their telegrams. It may suggest to the telegraph companies, too, the advantage of using some less dubious scheme of punctuation.

To Amundsen's Aid

Amundsen is probably safe for the present, wherever he is, if he did not fall into the icy water of the Arctic ocean or come to grief in landing. He had equipment and provisions with him for an extended siege. There is perhaps an even chance that he and his American companion are either traveling over Arctic ice or waiting for rescue.

It is without despair, therefore, that America makes ready to join Norway and France in relief efforts. And the method adopted by this country seems likely to succeed, if any success is possible.

The MacMillan party, with its three airplanes, will be diverted from its original purpose to seek Amundsen as soon as it has established its base at Etah, which may be remembered as the base of Cook and Peary, and which is not very far from Amundsen's intended course. With those planes they should be able to cover a wide area quickly. If one or two planes go wrong, there will still be hope. Amundsen's greatest error, if errors there were, consisted in putting all his hopes and chances in one plane.

The leading industry in the United States at present is cutting up land into building allotments.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 16.—There are hundreds who play the dismal game of fighting off stary reality between midnight and dawn in New York. They eddy to false pleasures. To the lights! Hoping to drown black thoughts in the pot-pourri of glare and gaiety.

In one of these haunts a newspaper reporter found the following:

A girl dropped out of the life of a famous novelist and since then trying to find something other than a substitute.

A woman novelist drinking herself rapidly to death.

A cripple who, thirty hours later, threw himself to death from a hotel window.

A fairly well known newspaperman whose fiancee died ten years ago. This man gets up in the middle of the night occasionally and beats his head against the wall.

A girl who abandoned a lucrative job for the stage and had lived on 55 cents a day for seven days.

A girl, deserted by her husband, so frail that employment experts turned her down, now selling bootleg liquor to keep alive.

Altogether a depressing picture but a part of the three-ring circus known as New York. Nowhere is there greater loneliness than is to be found among those who drift from cabaret to cabaret and sit at lone tables after most folk have gone to bed.

They constitute a big and forlorn army. It is tragedy trying to wear the mask of the mime. Most of them have a stinging longing for home but will never go back. They have failed.

Frank Tinney used to have a comedy name which brought many chortles. He used it as a peg upon which to hang an occasional wheeze. It was Joe Zilch. This was real—the name of a husband of a girl in the show. She recently divorced him and said among other things she was tired of the comedy name. There is a chorus girl whose honest-to-goodness name is Dora Dumm. There may be nothing in a name but somehow it is impossible to imagine stardom with a moniker like that.

I am ever confounded by the lines that provide the most mirth in musical comedies. This stopped a show the other night: The comedienne was departing and some-one advised her to be careful not to lose her way. "Twenty years with a circus," she snapped, "and never lost a spangle." Pete Dailey pulled that one at least twenty years ago.

Canal street since the days when it was a prominent business thoroughfare has always been an interesting street. The swirl northward left it a bit shabby, but it still buzzes with colorful activity. In late years it has become a sort of curb hawkers bazaar—that is a section of it. Here is the leading market for magic. Future Hermanns may find all sorts of flibbergibbets with which to amaze friends. There are disappearin coins, vanishing handkerchiefs, breaking chains, decanters that your various colored waters and scores of other mysteries. The hawkers are hoarse, brown derbied men in blue serge who—like their circus portotypes—smoke hand rolled brown paper cigarettes.

Fred Stone, the actor, is bringing a touch of Texas to Gotham. He has purchased an 1,800-acre ranch in Connecticut and will stock it with Texas steers. He will also have a herd of horses. Rumor says Stone expects to retire in a few years and will spend the rest of his days "rancinging it"—within motor distance of the Rialto.

A rancher in New York reminds me of Fred C. Kelly's quib. He was subwaying to Brooklyn and across from him sat a passenger with a bright new axe. "Ah," said Kelly, "a woodsman from Brooklyn!"

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I have felt as if something were falling out all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Chinese Puzzle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—The question of the disposition of China, of her partition, or her integrity, or what is to become of her, puzzles the western world. The problem of the open door and what to do about the railways in Manchuria and the coal mines occupies a large amount of statemen's time and newspaper space. Indeed it is a puzzle to almost every one except the Chinese.

A glance at a map of China discloses a vast expanse of territory sprawled over one-tenth of the earth's surface. Between one-fourth and one-fifth of the earth's population lives there. There is almost every kind of climate and every type of physiography. There is vast mineral wealth, including huge deposits of coal, iron, copper, tin, silver, gold, lead, zinc and salt. There is a wide diversity of agricultural products and a large assortment of animal species, both wild and domestic.

It is palpable, then, why western nations and Japan, seeking fields for their capital to exploit, should turn their eyes to China. That vast territory lies seemingly helpless and inviting; the population passive.

It is said that China is dying, breaking up, falling to pieces. It is said that she is a degenerate nation, too weak to maintain her own weight. That, however, is a western view.

With the Chinese, a very different view is taken of the matter. Those who understand the situation are not worrying about the future of their country.

China is old, so old she does not realize her age. She has watched the world go around for centuries. She has seen the Babylonian, the Egyptian, the Assyrian, the Chaldean, the Greek, the Roman, rize to great heights and fall. When Rome was struggling with Carthage, and when Europe knew only the savagery of forest tribes, China's imperial library contained thousands of volumes on philosophy.

China has had the Mongols, Manchus and others invade and overpower her, rule her for a paltry century or two and succumb to her deadly influence. She has seen the ages come and go and was withstood them. She is married to the ages and she knows she can never be divorced from them. The world wonders why occidentals go to China and never return, or, if they do, return as changed beings.

Subtle and Strong.

China knows her power, that subtle something which is stronger than armies and more deadly than bullets. Consider the two great alien dynasties that have ruled China. In 1234 the Khans swept everything before them, the beats of their horses' hoofs echoing from the Dnieper to the Yellow Sea. They overran all of Asia and descended like a desert hurricane on China. They boasted that in their path nothing could rear its head; that where their horses galloped cities once stood. Like the Huns of old they were invincible.

The Kin or Golden Dynasty was then in power in China. It put up a stiff resistance, but nothing could withstand the Mongols. They finally shut up the Kin emperor in one of the cities and besieged him. He killed himself and the Khans possessed China.

They brought a great age to China. From Poland to Japan and from the Arctic ocean to the Straits of Malacca they ruled, and the whole world knew of China. For generations Europe had looked with wonder and awe at mysterious Cathay. Now for a half century there was commerce with her. The laws of the empire were codified and under Kublai, grandson of Genhis Khan, literature and public works flourished. Marco Polo and his uncles relate how they used paper money and passports and traveled on the Grand Canal at a time when such things were unheard of in Europe. Intercourse was carried on with Persia and the Arabs, and nowhere was there a mightier power than that of the Khans.

But China exacted tribute from these proud monarchs. Scarcely 130 years of Mongol rule had passed before the Khans fell beneath China's inscrutable power. They lost their vigor and their martial fierceness and became Chinese. China absorbed them, lost them in her vastness and went on with a shrug.

The Mings next came and were the last native dynasty to occupy the throne. Under them China drew a veil about herself and shut the world out. The nations of the west viewed the Dragon of the East with wonder and superstition.

The Manchus invaded China in 1644 and overthrew the Mings. They ruled until the revolution of 1911, but they too succumbed to the inexorable force of China. They atrophied, lost their strength to rule and passed as the Mongols had done — and China went on.

Then the Grabbing Began.

The last years of the Manchu reign saw the veil, which the Mings had drawn about China, to a great extent withdrawn. The Opium war with England in 1842 seriously tore this veil and the west looked in on ancient Cathay.

The race for footholds in China began shortly afterward. Britain obtained Hong-Kong and Wei-hai-wei. Germany got Kiaehau. France got Wangchau-wan and a foothold in Indo-China. Russia Manchuria and Mongolia and cast her eyes on Tibet. Japan, bursting with population and striving to master the east, displaced Russia in Manchuria and acquired Korea.

So China lay at the mercy of the powers. They had postoffices within her boundaries; they had courts and judges for their own subjects; they used Chinese labor to mine coal which went to their own countries. China was breaking up, so they said, dying; passing to national oblivion. They seemed to have forgotten the Mongol and the Manchu.

China is not worried. She regards with contempt these westerners that fume over money and act with so much bombast. Her contempt for Japan is profound. This upstart in the islands, this kindred race, this mere splash in the ocean, what business has she to emulate the west? Japan has no power that China can not wear down. So says China.

Let those who today walk the streets of Port Arthur and Dairen, look with satisfaction upon what Japan has done, glance back at the ages and ponder. Let them glance at 2,500 years of Confucianism and realize that China was old when Confusius was born. Let them remember that Ptolemy wondered about China, that Rome craved her silks, that Sennacherib knew of her, that Europe in the Dark Ages feared her, that it was when in search of her that Columbus found America.

Japan dreams of dominating Asia, but Japan will look into the mind of that great mass of people in the Celestial Empire and utterly fail to understand it. It is the most incomprehensible, unfathomable, inscrutable, contradictory, logical and illogical mind in the world. It despises the soldier and reveres the philosopher; it is indifferent, but that indifference is more mighty than armor. Japan will find this out.

China is breaking; China is degenerating, they say, but the watching world may well be skeptical. China may be trampled but China always will be there. The late John Hay realized this. He knew China when he said: "Whoever understands that mighty empire—socially, politically, economically, religiously—has the key to world politics for the next five centuries."

Haskin's Letter

himself and the Khans possessed China.

They brought a great age to China. From Poland to Japan and from the Arctic ocean to the Straits of Malacca they ruled, and the whole world knew of China. For generations Europe had looked with wonder and awe at mysterious Cathay. Now for a half century there was commerce with her. The laws of the empire were codified and under Kublai, grandson of Genhis Khan, literature and public works flourished. Marco Polo and his uncles relate how they used paper money and passports and traveled on the Grand Canal at a time when such things were unheard of in Europe. Intercourse was carried on with Persia and the Arabs, and nowhere was there a mightier power than that of the Khans.

But China exacted tribute from these proud monarchs. Scarcely 130 years of Mongol rule had passed before the Khans fell beneath China's inscrutable power. They lost their vigor and their martial fierceness and became Chinese. China absorbed them, lost them in her vastness and went on with a shrug.

The Mings next came and were the last native dynasty to occupy the throne. Under them China drew a veil about herself and shut the world out. The nations of the west viewed the Dragon of the East with wonder and superstition.

The Manchus invaded China in 1644 and overthrew the Mings. They ruled until the revolution of 1911, but they too succumbed to the inexorable force of China. They atrophied, lost their strength to rule and passed as the Mongols had done — and China went on.

Then the Grabbing Began.

The last years of the Manchu reign saw the veil, which the Mings had drawn about China, to a great extent withdrawn. The Opium war with England in 1842 seriously tore this veil and the west looked in on ancient Cathay.

The race for footholds in China began shortly afterward. Britain obtained Hong-Kong and Wei-hai-wei. Germany got Kiaehau. France got Wangchau-wan and a foothold in Indo-China. Russia Manchuria and Mongolia and cast her eyes on Tibet. Japan, bursting with population and striving to master the east, displaced Russia in Manchuria and acquired Korea.

So China lay at the mercy of the powers. They had postoffices within her boundaries; they had courts and judges for their own subjects; they used Chinese labor to mine coal which went to their own countries. China was breaking up, so they said, dying; passing to national oblivion. They seemed to have forgotten the Mongol and the Manchu.

China is not worried. She regards with contempt these westerners that fume over money and act with so much bombast. Her contempt for Japan is profound. This upstart in the islands, this kindred race, this mere splash in the ocean, what business has she to emulate the west? Japan has no power that China can not wear down. So says China.

Let those who today walk the streets of Port Arthur and Dairen, look with satisfaction upon what Japan has done, glance back at the ages and ponder. Let them glance at 2,500 years of Confucianism and realize that China was old when Confusius was born. Let them remember that Ptolemy wondered about China, that Rome craved her silks, that Sennacherib knew of her, that Europe in the Dark Ages feared her, that it was when in search of her that Columbus found America.

Japan dreams of dominating Asia, but Japan will look into the mind of that great mass of people in the Celestial Empire and utterly fail to understand it. It is the most incomprehensible, unfathomable, inscrutable, contradictory, logical and illogical mind in the world. It despises the soldier and reveres the philosopher; it is indifferent, but that indifference is more mighty than armor. Japan will find this out.

China is breaking; China is degenerating, they say, but the watching world may well be skeptical. China may be trampled but China always will be there. The late John Hay realized this. He knew China when he said: "Whoever understands that mighty empire—socially, politically, economically, religiously—has the key to world politics for the next five centuries."

Radio Supplies Eyes To Blind Editor of California Weekly

SANTA ANA, Cal., June—More than twenty years ago, through the playful poke of his baby's fingers, Henry Kuchel, of Anaheim, near here, became totally blind.

Today world events are paraded daily before his blind eyes through the miracle of the radio. Kuchel is sixty-six years old now. He is the editor and publisher of the Aanheim Weekly Gazette, the oldest weekly in Orange county.

For years his wife kept him informed of what was going on around him by reading aloud the dispatches in the daily papers. With the advent of the radio Kuchel has been given a new pair of "eyes."

Now Henry Kuchel, writes his editorials from the news he receives over the radio.

Couldn't Drive Car on Account of Fearful Corn

Hear How She Removed It

"My corn hurt so that I couldn't even drive my car," writes Miss Florence Case, 729 Greenlawn Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind. "Finally, I put on a 'Blue-jay' Plaster and in 48 hours the corn lifted right out. I have used other Corn remedies, but have found nothing that can compare with 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters. I gladly recommend them."

What great relief the shapely little "Blue-jay" Plaster gives—yet what a safe and simple remedy! Just a magic bit of "Blue-jay" centered in the soft felt ring, with an adhesive strip to hold it on the corn.

"Blue-jay" is the great discovery of an able chemist. And each plaster contains just the amount to remove the corn gently, as prescribed by this learned man—no more, no less. That's one reason "Blue-jay" Plasters remove corns when other remedies fail. You can't make a mistake about putting on too much or too little, as when you drop on liquid. Hence we recommend "Blue-jay" Plasters as better than any liquid, even than our own.

Also, these plasters give instant relief, because the soft felt ring surrounds the corn and removes all painful shoe pressure. No liquid remedy can do that. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. In stubborn cases a second plaster is sometimes required. But better two plasters than courting infection by paring corns yourself. All druggists carry "Blue-jay" Plasters because they're so much in demand. Package of six, 25c. Try them, and two days later write us your experience. "Blue-jay" Laboratories, 25th and Dearborn Sts., Chicago, Ill.

Don't you be discouraged. Don't put off testing Tanlac another day. Get a bottle now and in a week you should notice signs of real improvement.

Brought Health and Happiness

Naughty Shows in Britain Not so Bad Opinion of Actor

LONDON, June.—"London plays which people call shocking are Sunday concerts compared with many of the plays American people flock to see."

That's the verdict of Alfred E. Matthews, English actor, who returned from playing in America recently and went to see London's so-called decadent plays.

"I have not found anything even to make me raise my eyebrows," he reported. "While in America I was offered parts in several plays which were too 'impossible.' One was so terrible that Violet Heming, who is regarded as America's most beautiful woman, refused to continue reading a part to me."

Orange Cake Gets Standing.

PEKING, June.—Growth of the orange cake industry is reported from Foochow, where a large portion of the orange crop is made into cakes and exported to other provinces in a dried state, chiefly for medicinal purposes. Fifteen factories are employed in Foochow converting the fresh oranges into cake form, which is then coated with oil and dried.

Pageants Will Be Given.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, June.—Pageants depicting scenes in 1925, 1850, 1875, 1900, and 1925 will be given in connection with the observance here July 4 of the 100th anniversary of the commencement of work on construction of the National road across Ohio. The celebration is backed by the Community club which has enlisted the support of state and federal highway bureaus in making the celebration a success.

Naughty Shows in Britain Not so Bad Opinion of Actor

LONDON, June.—"London plays which people call shocking are Sunday concerts compared with many of the plays American people flock to see."

That's the verdict of Alfred E. Matthews, English actor, who returned from playing in America recently and went to see London's so-called decadent plays.

"I have not found anything even to make me raise my eyebrows," he reported. "While in America I was offered parts in several plays which were too 'impossible.' One was so terrible that Violet Heming, who is regarded as America's most beautiful woman, refused to continue reading a part to me."

Orange Cake Gets Standing.

PEKING, June.—Growth of the orange cake industry is reported from Foochow, where a large portion of the orange crop is made into cakes and exported to other provinces in a dried state, chiefly for medicinal purposes. Fifteen factories are employed in Foochow converting the fresh oranges into cake form, which is then coated with oil and dried.

Quinn's Oakland Club Wins In Sixth From Laughlin, 6 to 4

Singles By Finley and Mundy Produce Win For B. & W

Bricelin's Crew Attempts Comeback in Last Half of Final Frame, But "Cracker" Howell Fans Two, With Two Runners on, and Clash Ends; Six Errors Charged Against Newell Squad.

Playing snappy ball and hitting at timely junctures, Babcock & Wilcox came from behind in the sixth frame to trim Laughlin, 6 to 4, in a City league contest last evening at Newell. Darkness stopped hostilities in the sixth.

John Watson, the usually reliable third bagman, releasing two miscues in the sixth, when the score was 4 to 2 in favor of his team, contributed greatly to the situation that gave the brickmen their victory. A pass by Riser and a boot by V. Bailey made possible the needed runs that came following a well timed single.

In that inning, following McGeehan's grounding to W. Mundy, Watson juggled Quinn's drive. Howell hit to the infield but in the attempt to get Quinn between second and third Watson threw high to Sayres and both were safe. Rardin walked, clogging the bags. C. Wagner was safe as V. Bailey failed to handle his rap and Quinn counted. Finley, of K. T. K., who, with Rariden of the same club, filled vacancies on the Klondyke aggregation, singled after DeBolt had fanned and Howell and Rariden proceeded to score. W. Mundy also beat out an infield drive and C. Wagner crossed the plate. But Finley was caught on Babb's throw, as he tried to follow Wagner in.

Laughlin, in the final half of the sixth, had Reese on third and Sayres on second by reason of a single, walk and two purloined bags. With one out, Watson, though he had a perfect batting record up to that time, with a walk, single and a double, struck out as did DeLong, who also had two previous hits in three appearances.

Then the closely gathering darkness caused Umpire Lindsay to call the game.

DeBolt, back from a Pennsylvania college, played his first game with Babcock & Wilcox, in right field, and made a fine running catch of Reese's fly in the second, in addition to swatting .500 for the day with two singles in four times up.

Laughlin had a bad day in the field, their six miscues contrasting unfavorably with Babcock & Wilcox's two, both made by Quinn. "Hoop" Riser and "Cracker" Howell presided on the hilltop for their respective teams. The former allowed but six swats and only in the sixth did two of them come together. Only DeBolt, Finley, W. Mundy and Rariden connect with him. But one of his two walks was costly.

Howell, although allowing 11 hits, kept them well scattered except in the fourth, where four were registered. Errors, however, in that and the first aided in the scoring. He did not fan a single man until the sixth when he whiffed the last two to face him.

Howell's work in striking out the last two men up in the sixth with two on and one out, stood out as one of the day's stellar performances.

COIN MAY DRAW LEONARD BACK

Bout With Walker in August Planned for Ex-champ.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Formal announcement is expected within a matter of weeks that Benny Leonard has thought better of his hasty retirement from the wholesale and retail glove business, following a series of protracted conferences between Jack Kearns and Billy Gibson. It was thought that the deliberations of these great minds had to do with a proposed Dempsey-Tunney meeting, but it developed today that the subject under discussion was a bout between Leonard and Mickey Walker in August.

Gibson, it is understood, virtually has given his word that Leonard will play along when the time comes.

While non-active professionally for almost a year, Benny has kept himself in condition at his gymnasium where the tired business man may his rest by running 20 laps around the track. The young man is said to be as sound physically as ever he was.

His mother, given credit in the record books for the decision over Benny that prompted his retirement from the lightweight ranks and the ring in general, is also alleged to have been won over to the proposition. She can buy a lot of mental serenity with the quarter million that is believed will fall in Leonard's lap as a result of the deal.

The bout, next to the proposed Wills-Tunney transaction, is planned as the "big shot" of the 1925 outdoor season. It will fill any promoter with joy and the seats with cash customers. It is one of those ballyhoo, no megaphone.

It is such a form-fitting transaction that apparently Messrs. Kearns and Gibson have wasted little thought on Leonard's attitude.

"He's a business man," Kearns said today with a significant wink.

He and Gibson, it seems, have gotten so far ahead of the propostion that they are haggling over the division of the purse. Both think they are entitled to the biggest drag and only a gradual modification of this laudable idea will bring them to an amicable conclusion.

This will probably take the form of a fifty-fifty split of approximately a half million dollars.

It's about time for Wallie "Pickling" Pipp to be traded again by the Yankees. He was benched the other day. It has taken less than such a move to start tales in past seasons of plans to separate him from his Yankee uniform.

Pipp has been traded "on paper" to every ball club in the American league during his 10 years with the club. The reasons assigned have ranged from a desire to "strengthen the team" to "getting harmony in the club." Both bluffs have been called by New York fans whenever trade winds became brisk.

And in the meantime, in between times, Wallie has had fun. He has played much better ball than anyone has given him credit for. He has listened to the good and mean things said about him and kept his poise—and his batting eye.

The three or four efforts to trade him to obtain other playing strength were nipped in the bud—if they ever were meant seriously. No one with good sense would trade a hard hitting first baseman—one of the best batters and fielders in the game in an effort to add strength to a club unless he could get half a ball team in return. A good first baseman is a vital cog in a baseball machine. Ask the Cleveland club owners who have been trying to find one for 10 or 12 years.

Speaking of Wallie and first basemen, the Tiger bosses probably kick themselves around occasionally when both are mentioned.

Wallie had made quite a rep as a young infielder with Kalamazoo in the Southern Michigan league in 1911 and part of 1912 when the Tigers bought him. He received a tryout that fall and then was released on option to Providence and then Scranton. The Tigers recalled him in 1914 only to turn him over to Rochester. When the Yankees were begging everybody for ball players in 1915 to help them assemble a team that could play big league ball the Tigers sold him to the New York club at the waiver price.

SOME GIFT.

Pipp has been a regular member of the Yankee wrecking crew. His hitting and fielding at first played an important part in the climb of the club to their first pennant in 1921. Pipp's ability to get on base ahead of Babe Ruth and his bludgeon have netted the Yanks many valuable runs.

Pipp is a college lad. He played two years at Georgetown University. After leaving college he played with a semi-pro outfit in Hastings, Mich., and then in Grand Rapids, his native town, before going to Kalamazoo.

Akron and Cleveland Place Tourney Hopes On Youthful Golfers

Werner and Hasmann in Top Form for State Title Matches at Portage Club Course Next Week, in Which J. M. Wells Will Defend Title; Large Delegation of Local Players to Witness Contests.

Akron is all steamed up over the chances of Frank Werner in the state amateur golf championship tournament which will be played at the Portage Country club, Akron, next week.

And Cleveland will lay the family relics on Eddie Hasmann, boy star, who stepped along to the finals last year at Columbus.

But East Liverpool golfers, to a man, are backing Joseph M. Wells, 1924 champion, winner of the Oakmont invitational tourney this year, to repeat his performance of last year, despite the threat of "dark horse" uprisings from the big cities of the Buckeye state.

Werner, the Rubber City hope, is 18 years old. This is his fourth season as a golfer, and, Akronites say, he is one of the most phenomenal golfers in the state. Last year and the year before he won the junior championship of the Akron and the Cleveland districts.

He went over the Portage course last season for the Akron amateur title. He is a member of the Fairlawn Heights club, of Akron, but he plays at Portage almost as often as he does at his own club, so he has the advantage of familiarity with the course upon which the state tourney will be played.

Eddie Hasmann, who couldn't stand the pace set by Wells in the finals at Columbus last year, is also reported to be shooting bang-up golf this summer, and Clevelanders, as a result, are expecting him to produce next week.

A large number of local golfers are preparing for the trip to Akron. The tournament play will start Monday.

Quinn's Oakland Club Wins In Sixth From Laughlin, 6 to 4

Singles By Finley and Mundy Produce Win For B. & W

Bricelin's Crew Attempts Comeback in Last Half of Final Frame, But "Cracker" Howell Fans Two, With Two Runners on, and Clash Ends; Six Errors Charged Against Newell Squad.

Playing snappy ball and hitting at timely junctures, Babcock & Wilcox came from behind in the sixth frame to trim Laughlin, 6 to 4, in a City league contest last evening at Newell. Darkness stopped hostilities in the sixth.

John Watson, the usually reliable third bagman, releasing two miscues in the sixth, when the score was 4 to 2 in favor of his team, contributed greatly to the situation that gave the brickmen their victory. A pass by Riser and a boot by V. Bailey made possible the needed runs that came following a well timed single.

In that inning, following McGeehan's grounding to W. Mundy, Watson juggled Quinn's drive. Howell hit to the infield but in the attempt to get Quinn between second and third Watson threw high to Sayres and both were safe. Rardin walked, clogging the bags. C. Wagner was safe as V. Bailey failed to handle his rap and Quinn counted. Finley, of K. T. K., who, with Rariden of the same club, filled vacancies on the Klondyke aggregation, singled after DeBolt had fanned and Howell and Rariden proceeded to score. W. Mundy also beat out an infield drive and C. Wagner crossed the plate. But Finley was caught on Babb's throw, as he tried to follow Wagner in.

Laughlin, in the final half of the sixth, had Reese on third and Sayres on second by reason of a single, walk and two purloined bags. With one out, Watson, though he had a perfect batting record up to that time, with a walk, single and a double, struck out as did DeLong, who also had two previous hits in three appearances.

Then the closely gathering darkness caused Umpire Lindsay to call the game.

DeBolt, back from a Pennsylvania college, played his first game with Babcock & Wilcox, in right field, and made a fine running catch of Reese's fly in the second, in addition to swatting .500 for the day with two singles in four times up.

Laughlin had a bad day in the field, their six miscues contrasting unfavorably with Babcock & Wilcox's two, both made by Quinn. "Hoop" Riser and "Cracker" Howell presided on the hilltop for their respective teams. The former allowed but six swats and only in the sixth did two of them come together. Only DeBolt, Finley, W. Mundy and Rariden connect with him. But one of his two walks was costly.

Howell, although allowing 11 hits, kept them well scattered except in the fourth, where four were registered. Errors, however, in that and the first aided in the scoring. He did not fan a single man until the sixth when he whiffed the last two to face him.

Howell's work in striking out the last two men up in the sixth with two on and one out, stood out as one of the day's stellar performances.

COIN MAY DRAW LEONARD BACK

Bout With Walker in August Planned for Ex-champ.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Formal announcement is expected within a matter of weeks that Benny Leonard has thought better of his hasty retirement from the wholesale and retail glove business, following a series of protracted conferences between Jack Kearns and Billy Gibson. It was thought that the deliberations of these great minds had to do with a proposed Dempsey-Tunney meeting, but it developed today that the subject under discussion was a bout between Leonard and Mickey Walker in August.

Gibson, it is understood, virtually has given his word that Leonard will play along when the time comes.

While non-active professionally for almost a year, Benny has kept himself in condition at his gymnasium where the tired business man may his rest by running 20 laps around the track. The young man is said to be as sound physically as ever he was.

His mother, given credit in the record books for the decision over Benny that prompted his retirement from the lightweight ranks and the ring in general, is also alleged to have been won over to the proposition. She can buy a lot of mental serenity with the quarter million that is believed will fall in Leonard's lap as a result of the deal.

The bout, next to the proposed Wills-Tunney transaction, is planned as the "big shot" of the 1925 outdoor season. It will fill any promoter with joy and the seats with cash customers. It is one of those ballyhoo, no megaphone.

It is such a form-fitting transaction that apparently Messrs. Kearns and Gibson have wasted little thought on Leonard's attitude.

"He's a business man," Kearns said today with a significant wink.

He and Gibson, it seems, have gotten so far ahead of the propostion that they are haggling over the division of the purse. Both think they are entitled to the biggest drag and only a gradual modification of this laudable idea will bring them to an amicable conclusion.

This will probably take the form of a fifty-fifty split of approximately a half million dollars.

It's about time for Wallie "Pickling" Pipp to be traded again by the Yankees. He was benched the other day. It has taken less than such a move to start tales in past seasons of plans to separate him from his Yankee uniform.

Pipp has been traded "on paper" to every ball club in the American league during his 10 years with the club. The reasons assigned have ranged from a desire to "strengthen the team" to "getting harmony in the club." Both bluffs have been called by New York fans whenever trade winds became brisk.

And in the meantime, in between times, Wallie has had fun. He has played much better ball than anyone has given him credit for. He has listened to the good and mean things said about him and kept his poise—and his batting eye.

The three or four efforts to trade him to obtain other playing strength were nipped in the bud—if they ever were meant seriously. No one with good sense would trade a hard hitting first baseman—one of the best batters and fielders in the game in an effort to add strength to a club unless he could get half a ball team in return. A good first baseman is a vital cog in a baseball machine. Ask the Cleveland club owners who have been trying to find one for 10 or 12 years.

Speaking of Wallie and first basemen, the Tiger bosses probably kick themselves around occasionally when both are mentioned.

Wallie had made quite a rep as a young infielder with Kalamazoo in the Southern Michigan league in 1911 and part of 1912 when the Tigers bought him. He received a tryout that fall and then was released on option to Providence and then Scranton. The Tigers recalled him in 1914 only to turn him over to Rochester. When the Yankees were begging everybody for ball players in 1915 to help them assemble a team that could play big league ball the Tigers sold him to the New York club at the waiver price.

SOME GIFT.

Pipp has been a regular member of the Yankee wrecking crew. His hitting and fielding at first played an important part in the climb of the club to their first pennant in 1921. Pipp's ability to get on base ahead of Babe Ruth and his bludgeon have netted the Yanks many valuable runs.

Pipp is a college lad. He played two years at Georgetown University. After leaving college he played with a semi-pro outfit in Hastings, Mich., and then in Grand Rapids, his native town, before going to Kalamazoo.

How to Solve It

Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists to the spaces in the diagrams and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

Tagging The Bases

The Athletics did not go to Shibe Park to praise Speaker but to bury him. They buried him and his Indians under a 13-run rally in the eighth, the greatest in the history of Philadelphia baseball, and won, 17 to 15. Simmons' homer with two on was the blow that broke the Indians tomahawk. Umpire Owens was painfully but not seriously injured in a collision with Spurgeon.

The Cards made it four straight victories while the Phils were making it nine straight defeats, 6 to 4, Rhem doing the heavy work.

In a scance of near fights, the Pirates drove Scott to cover, stood off the Giants' last inning rush and won, 7 to 6. It was the Giants' fourth consecutive defeat.

The Red Sox won a go-as-you please from the White Sox, 13 to 5, Ruffing getting glittering support.

How to Solve It

Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists to the spaces in the diagrams and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

Tagging The Bases

The Athletics did not go to Shibe Park to praise Speaker but to bury him. They buried him and his Indians under a 13-run rally in the eighth, the greatest in the history of Philadelphia baseball, and won, 17 to 15. Simmons' homer with two on was the blow that broke the Indians tomahawk. Umpire Owens was painfully but not seriously injured in a collision with Spurgeon.

The Cards made it four straight victories while the Phils were making it nine straight defeats, 6 to 4, Rhem doing the heavy work.

In a seance of near fights, the Pirates drove Scott to cover, stood off the Giants' last inning rush and won, 7 to 6. It was the Giants' fourth consecutive defeat.

The Red Sox won a go-as-you-please from the White Sox, 13 to 5, Ruffing getting glittering support.

$150,000 Monkey Trial.
Two Rockefeller Deeds.
Coolidge Tells Mexico.
One Busy Crow.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Everything now is figured in dollars, Prof. Scoopes of Tennessee, hero and defendant in the famous fundamentalist-Bryan-Darwin monkey trial, has refused offers totaling $150,000 in connection with motion picture and other rights of the trial.

If a 1925 monkey trial is worth $150,000, how would you fix the value of other trials? For instance: the trial of Madame Roland before her head was cut off, or Robespierre.

The impeachment of Warren Hastings, or the trial of the Tichborne claimant, or Savonorella?

The trial of Croesus, which was short, when Cyrus sentenced him to death?

And what would be the value of that last scene as they were burning Croseus, earth's richest man, and he cried out, "Oh, Solon! Solon!" amid the smoke, causing the curiosity of Cyrus to bring him down from the fire and became his friend?

Two things have been done this week in the name of Rockefeller. John D., Jr., supplied $600,000 to preserve and give to the public Bernard's fine collection of cloisters and Gothic antiques. That was a good deed.

At the same time, Standard Oil, another name for Rockefeller, ordered for its employes an all metal monoplane so big that the description calls it "a flying bungalow."

That was a very good Rockefeller deed, more important to the country than any collection of Gothic antiques. The business concern that builds flying machines builds to protect the safety of America.

The great Standard Oil flying machine, which, it is hoped, will be only one of thousands carrying the American flag and educating American aviators, will be built by the Stout All-Metal Co., in Detroit, the name of Edsel and Henry Ford's flying machine company.

Young Americans are eager to fly, and maintain the rights and safety of the United States on the modern field of battle and "ocean," which is the air. The young men of Annapolis recently, told that they must learn to fly, were more than willing. Many of them are giving up their regular summer cruise to practice flying.

Theodore Roosevelt compelled army men, much to the discomfort of the fat ones, to prove that they could endure a 50-mile ride on horseback.

President Coolidge within a year or so may call upon the younger officers to prove that they can ride a flying machine 20,000 feet up into the clouds.

Secretary Kellogg, with President Coolidge's approval, of course, has sent to the Mexican government a

BRITON SLAIN IN SHANGHAI

Four More Japanese Destroyers go to China.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—Chinese exchange speculators started feeverish buying of gold bars this afternoon following rumors that an understanding will be reached tomorrow which will end the general strike which has tied up Shanghai for the last two weeks.

It is understood the Chinese negotiators are holding out for their three principal demands, namely, punishment of police, indemnity for the victims killed in the student demonstration and a return of the international mixed court. Foreign delegates conferred but declined to make a statement on progress of a settlement. It is understood the foreign negotiators are willing to make some concessions, possibly a return of the mixed court.

SHANGHAI, June 16.—The slaying of William McKenzie, British subject and an employe of the municipal electricity department and the wounding of Miss Mary Duncan, are believed to have been the outgrowth of a long standing dispute between the Chinese and the municipal council over the extension of the foreign settlement roads into Chinese territory.

TOKIO, June 16.—The Japanese government today ordered four more destroyers to proceed from Sasebo naval base to Shanghai, making 10 Japanese warships in Chinese waters. The additional ships are expected to reach Shanghai Wednesday. One will probably proceed to Hankow and another to Kiukiang. The destroyers are not carrying marines.

LACKAWANNA SPECIAL IS DERAILED AFTER IT STRIKES SPLIT RAIL

Engine and Two Front Coaches Leave Tracks at Rockport, N. J., as Five-car Train, Carrying Party Bound for Bremen Germany, is Speeding From Chicago to Hoboken, N. J.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES RAIL DURING TERRIFIC STORM HOUR BEFORE CRASH

Great Confusion Prevails at Scene, With Women Screaming and Some of Most Seriously Injured Begging Doctors to Let Them Die, as Rescue Workers are Rushed From Four Cities.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Twelve persons were killed and approximately 50 injured, several of them perhaps fatally, when a special five-car train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, speeding from Chicago to Hoboken, N. J., was derailed at Rockport, three miles from here, early today.

The victims were on their way to New York to sail this afternoon on the Republic, of the United States lone for Bremen, Germany.

The train struck a rail at Rockport that had been split by lightning an hour before. The engine and the two front coaches leaped the rails. The other three coaches remained on the tracks.

Relief trains, bearing doctors, nurses and all necessary paraphernalia were rushed to the scene from Dover, Hackettstown, Washington, N. J., and Easton, Pa.

Most of Victims Asleep.

The greatest confusion prevailed at the scene when the rescue workers arrived. Women were screaming, men were trying to quiet them and some of the most seriously injured begged the doctors to let them die.

Most of the victims were asleep when the accident occurred, at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

The first eye-witness story of the fatal crash was given by Miss Mabel White, daughter of Chief of Police L. C. White, of Hackettstown, and one of the first to arrive at the scene. She was a spectator at a fire in a lumber works in Hackettstown early this morning when news of the wreck at Rockport was received.

Eye-witness Story.

"I went at once to the scene, three miles away, in a friend's automobile," Miss White said. "We got there about half an hour after the wreck occurred.

"The scene was pitiable. Women, some of whom could not talk English, were going about in circles, wringing their hands and crying as if their hearts would break.

"Big, strong men, their husbands, or friends, went about, patting them on the shoulders and trying to comfort them.

"One woman, whose child, a girl, was scalded to death, was inconsolable.

"The two front coaches and the engine had gone off the track. The windows of these coaches—both steel, by the way—were shattered and many of the injured were inside, groaning. They were being treated by those who first got to the scene.

"I counted 10 dead. Most of the dead were scalded as well as injured in the wreck.

"I had the presence of mind to take with me from Hackettstown a bottle of olive oil. I went through one of the windows of the overturned coaches and applied the oil to the burns of the injured.

"The injured were in terrible pain. They screamed and groaned.

Storm is Blamed By Road Chieftain For Fatal Crash

NEWARK, N. J., June 16.—Three reasons for the fatal wreck on the Lackawanna railroad at Rockport, N. J., today were advanced in a tentative report made by Robert White, general superintendent of the road, to the state board of public utilities.

They were:

1—That lightning struck the rails.

2—That sand and debris were washed on the tracks by heavy rain.

3—That the road bed had been washed out.

Vacation Bible School Will Open Here Next Monday

A Daily Vacation Bible School will open here next Monday morning under the auspices of at least three and perhaps five of the down town churches.

The First Methodist Episcopal, First United Presbyterian and First Methodist Protestant churches have already pledged their co-operation, while the First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches have the matter under consideration.

The first assembly will be in the Methodist Episcopal church at 9 a. m. Monday. Sessions will be held from 9 until 11:30 a. m. According to its sponsors, the school trains in character, respect for homes and churches and builds in civic pride and service. It is pointed out that during vacation time, when schools are out, restraint is removed to such a degree that habits are formed which may prove injurious throughout life. The Daily Vacation Bible School movement was founded to counteract any such influences and to keep the minds of the children employed, the pastors said.

The lad was knocked to the street, his face and head being bruised. He was taken to his home where his injuries were dressed by Dr. F. F. Davis.

BARN IS SWEPT BY FIRE AFTER IT IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Frame Structure on Stewart Farm, Near Chester, Destroyed.

$2,000 DAMAGE

One Killed, Two Burned During Storm in Cleveland.

Damage estimated at about $2,000 resulted at 7:30 o'clock last night, when a one-story frame barn on the Stewart Brothers' farm, one and one-half miles back of Chester, was destroyed by fire after it was struck by lightning. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Cattle housed in the building, were driven out before the blaze had gained headway. Ten tons of hay and a small amount of grain were destroyed.

The Chester volunteer firemen were called, but the blaze was beyond control when they arrived. The barn is situated on what is known as the old Nelswonger farm, which is now owned by Stewart Brothers.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—Two men were in hospitals today, seriously burned, while a third was dead, the result of the severe electrical storm that broke the sudden heat wave yesterday.

Arthur Fritsch, 30, was killed, as he stood with Frank Shay, 31, and August Basch, 35, beneath a tree near Riverside cemetery, for shelter from the storm.

One Rotarian attending the convention was overcome by the heat at a downtown hotel.

WAR DECLARED ON SPEEDERS

Motorcycle Patrolman Assigned to Duty in Campaign.

A campaign to halt fast and reckless driving and enforce other traffic regulations was launched today by the police.

Mayor Charles Brown announced that Patrolman Herman Roth, beginning today, will be on motorcycle duty from 2 p. m. until midnight daily. He will be garbed in a special motorcycle officer's uniform. He will confine his efforts to thoroughfares within the city limits.

After residents of Klondyke complained that autoists were making a speedway of Harvey avenue, council, Friday night, adopted a motion asking the safety director to put the motorcycle officer on duty in an effort to break up the practice.

Patrolman Roth's machine will be equipped with a side car. Offenders will be halted by the officer, advised of their arrest and notified when to appear. Their names and license numbers will be taken by the police.

DR. TUCKER TELLS OF SCRIPTURAL PROPHETS' PARTS IN WORLD ECONOMY

"God has Outlined Events of all Nations in Advance," Biblical Chart Lecturer Declares at First Baptist Church.

"God has outlined the events of all nations in advance, hence all happenings now are just what these seers foretold," asserted Dr. Leon W. Tucker, of New York city, in a compelling resume of the part played in world economy by the major and minor scriptural prophets, at the First Baptist church on Monday evening.

"No man can lay claim to statesmanship, the science of government, without having an outstanding knowledge of prophecy," he said. "There can be no permanent or accurate vision of international relationship and occurrences without acquaintanceship with these early visions."

That Dr. Tucker and his brilliant party may return to East Liverpool for another and perhaps longer engagement was indicated by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the pastor, who declared "such a procedure was now being considered."

Three night services yet remain of the present engagement of Dr. Tucker. He announced that the lectures he will give on these occasions will be among the best of his repertoire. That on Tuesday evening will be: "Tests, Trials and Triumphs of Tribulations." This will be an intimate close-up with

CURTIS, FORMER CANTON SAFETY DIRECTOR, MUST GO TO PRISON

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction on Bribery Charge.

THREE-YEAR TERM

Claim he Accepted $50 From Alleged Bootlegger.

COLUMBUS, June 16.—Edward E. Curtis, former public safety director, Canton, must serve three years in the Ohio penitentiary, following conviction on a charge of accepting a $50 bribe from Clyde Goldfuss, agent for an alleged bootlegger, the state supreme court ruled today in a 33-page opinion.

Ousted by Donahey.

The supreme court's decree affirms the judgment of the Stark county courts. The offense occurred in March, 1926, is was alleged. Following a hearing relative to this and other charges, Governor Donahey removed Curtis from office.

Curtis was ousted by Governor Donahey in 1923, after an expose of graft in the Canton police department headed by Curtis. Curtis' subsequent conviction was on the charge that Goldfuss had paid the bribe, through Harry Bouklias, alleged agent of Curtis, to protect Goldfuss in bootlegging activities.

The lengthy opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Marshall and concurred in by Judges Day, Allen and Kinkade, after 31 pages of argument upholding the court's action in dismissing alleged errors, said:

"We are convinced that there was a conspiracy to thwart and annual the administration of justice in Canton, during the administration of the defendant as safety director, and we are unconvinced that any conspiracy was framed on the part of the underworld for the purpose of prosecuting the defendant in this case."

Curtis Guilty, Says Court.

Chief Justice Marshall pointed out that the principal witnesses against Curtis "had previously testified to the contrary" and that it was necessary to determine "on what occasion they spoke the truth." Continuing the court said:

"Those witnesses, having been guilty of violation of the liquor and gambling laws and having been guilty of bribery, not to say many other crimes, and having crowded their unholy work by committing perjury in an endeavor to save themselves from the penalties of their crimes,

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE FORMALLY LAUNCHES 1926-27 ECONOMY PROGRAM; TAX REDUCTION LOOMS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Coolidge today formally launched his 1926-1927 economy program, aimed at Drastic cost cutting policies in government which may be reflected in tax reduction in the sixty ninth congress.

At the president's direction department heads were requested by Budget Director H. M. Lord to attend the annual meeting of the government's business organization on June 22.

Plans to secure greater efficiency and economy for the coming two years will be outlined, according to Lord.

Coincident with the calling of the economy session came indications of a clash in congress between the administration and advocates of tax reduction who feel government revenue should be cut more than $500,000,000.

Mellon Opposes Greater Cut.

While Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will submit no specific plan to congress and will avoid an open break on new legislation, he opposes revenue reduction exceeding $300,000,000. A greater cut would force the government to borrow money to meet expenses, experts said.

The treasury revealed that the surplus for 1926 will be approximately $250,000,000, compared to the preliminary $373,700,000 estimate. Partially balancing this loss, however, was the probability that the 1925 surplus will exceed the estimate of $67,000,000 by $50,000,000.

The treasury is against a revenue cut greater than the surplus. Mellon also opposes applying payments on foreign debts directly to tax reduction, holding that it is better economy to reach taxes indirectly by applying payments to the public debt. A change of treasury policy would require an amendment to the law.

If taxes are reduced rates must be levied so scientifically that the new bill will eventually increase revenue, officials said. Mellon believes a cut in surtaxes to 15 or 25 per cent will accomplish this end. Officials pointed out that in 1916 under low taxation there were 2,449 incomes of over $200,000 reported. In 1921, at the maximum tax period, the number was 472, while in 1923, at lower tax rates, it went to 1,193.

The government reduced its operating expenses by $120,665,000 from July 1, 1924, to June 14, compared to the same period of 1923-1924. Ordinary expenses were $7,551,000 higher. But cut being due to reduced public debt interest.

The agricultural department increased its expenditures $26,582,000, the navy $14,971,000 and the war department $9,848,000. Led my the veterans bureau with $22,371,000 five departments cut expenses.

President Coolidge is expected to ask department heads to use the pruning knife to get under the $3,267,000,000 estimated costs for 1926 appropriations for which have already been made for the government in 1927. The figure for 1926 was $1,000,000,0000. Budget officials said ordinary expenditures for 1927 probably would exceed 1926 by $50,000,000.

Government revenue under the 1924 revenue act will be higher than was expected. Receipts for 11½ months were $1,420,000,000, with not all the estimated $330,000,000 June collection included. Income tax receipts will exceed the $1,600,000,000 estimate.

FIVE SILENT "COPS" ON JOB

Electric Traffic Signs are Placed in Downtown Zones.

Five electrically lighted "silent" policemen are being placed in position in the downtown district today, replacing smaller kerosene lanterns.

The lights are being located at the corner of Fifth and Market street, intersection of St. Clair avenue and Sixth street, Dresden avenue and Sixth street, Broadway and St. Clair avenue and at the three-point corner of Sixth and Washington streets and Broadway.

The new lights, about six feet in height, are mounted on concrete blocks and each will weigh about 1,000 pounds complete. If purchased from a factory, they cost about $200 each. However, the lights were made here, their cost being borne by local advertisers. Green lenses, used on the four sides of the lights, were furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, while the painting was done by Chief of Police McDermott.

Connecting wires will be run from overhead cables supporting the trolley wires. Painted in white and a light blue they will be noticeable either in daylight or darkness.

Approximately $1,000 of the $2,500 which council recently voted to transfer from the general fund to the safety department fund will be used in the purchase of three traffic signal lights, Mayor Brown said today. The new lights, which are to be erected on Fifth street at the postoffice, at Market street and at Jefferson street, are of the three light system and will be operated from the police booth in the Diamond. Other lights may be installed later at busy intersections.

there was every reason why they should have adhered to that perjured story. x x x It seems quite certain from this record that except for their repentance and confession the state never could have made a case against any of these parties except that of violation of the liquor and gambling laws.

"It is easy to organize a conspiracy for any purpose, but the instances are rare when a conspiracy on the part of a large number of people can succeed to a point where it does not ultimately meet disaster and punishment. This is what has happened to the real conspiracy in this case, which we believe, was the only conspiracy. It is impossible to read this record in its entirety without feeling that the testimony of these conspirators has the ring of truth and that the defendant is guilty as charged in the indictment."

plain warning that the rights of Americans in Mexico must be recognized and protected as we protect the rights of Mexican citizens here.

Americans feel that President Calles is earnest in his effort to give Mexico a firm constitutional government. But President Calles' task is difficult. There is an inclination in Mexico to look upon American enterprise and American capital as "absorbers of Mexican resources." That is about as intelligent as to say that tractors, fertilizers and irrigation absorb a farm's resources.

Texas and California were once part of Mexico. They have had American enterprise and capital applied to them, and they are not exactly depleted.

A tendency has been shown in Mexico to "33" foreigners and appropriate their property. The verb "to 33" has been coined in honor of the clause 33 in the Mexico constitution, which allows Mexico's governing powers to declare any foreigner "a public enemy," and expel him without letting him take his property with him.

That was all very well in the old days, when the Turkish sultan ordered Charles XII to go home to Sweden. But it is out of date on the North American continent.

President Calles, intelligent, thoroughly understanding modern conditions, will doubtless do all he can to meet the American government half way. He is well aware that American capital, enterprise and engineers are exactly what Mexico needs.

In ancient days, augurs, fortelling the future, paid especial attention to the flight of birds, especially ravens and all birds that were black.

These ancients would be interested in the flight of a modern black crow at Tonawanda, in Pennsylvania. Its extended wings touched at the same time two wires carrying a high tension current of 33,000 volt power, short circuiting the system.

A farmer's warehouse and one barn were burned down.

Fire started in a dozen homes when the power line fell across a telephone wire. Several persons were shocked. Light, power and telephone service were cut off for hours and three cows were killed nibbling grass through a wire fence that came in contact with the high voltage line.

Can you imagine how those fundamentalists augurs would have said to the three cows, "Let that teach you to watch the flight of birds?"

The augurs would never guess that the real trouble was inside the copper wires.

G. R. Brown, who demonstrates the beauty of brevity in a newspaper, observes that Representative Langley, of Kentucky, arrested for drunkenness, is indicted on an accusation "that Henry Clay would have regarded as a compliment."

You might add Daniel Webster to Henry Clay and Pitt, prime minister of England in Napoleon's time.

Mr. Brown also worries nilldly about "the safety of 5,000 missionaries now in China."

When a Chinese mob starts on a rampage, its fury lights upon Europeans, and especially upon missionaries earnestly striving to replace false old beliefs with new.

That horrifies us, unless we recall what American mobs have done to Chinese and others. Think what a first-class American mob on the warpath would do to any Chinese missionary caught urging American children to change to Confusius, Buddha, or Shintoism for Christianity.

However, the missionaries will stand their ground and meet the consequences with courage. They know that the power which they represent can at any moment save them and overwhelm the enemy by the slightest miracle. If they did not believe that they could not be real missionaries.

County Motor Club Will Aid in Brake And Headlight Tests

The board of directors of the Columbiana County Motor club pledged their co-operation in the proposed brake and headlight tests which may be launched throughout the county under the direction of the sheriff's office, at a meeting held in the office of H. C. Armstrong, Lisbon, last evening.

The directors also voted their assistance to the safety departments in the municipalities of the county in like campaigns.

The club discussed the proposed discontinuance of issuing of automobile licenses at the Salem office, but the matter was referred to a committee from Salem, which will meet tonight. Under a new state law, deputy automobile registrars are permitted to charge a 15-cent fee for issuing tags.

In order to obtain a license, the applicant must show a bill of sale, produce a tax receipt, showing he has paid personal taxes on his car and make affidavit as to the truth of his statements. The auto club declares that the 15-cent fee is insufficient to meet the cost of the license distribution.

ROTARY SCORES INTOLERANCE

Chieftain's Address Assails Hate, Urges True Charity.

CLEVELAND, June 16.—What was construed as a direct reference to the Ku Klux Klan was contained in the presidential address of Everett W. Hill, of Oklahoma City, Okla., opening the business sessions of the sixteenth annual convention of Rotary International here today.

"The spirit of intolerance," Hill said, "has recently gripped the nations and successfully defied the exorcism of all true charity. Rising from the dust wherein it has reposed since the expiration of the middle ages, it has come forth once more to vex the souls of men. For four years, one half of the world's population was urged to hate, to maim, to kill. We find in the ghastly backwash of that tragic era the spirit of repression, of passion, of revenge.

"No matter how free may be the charter of a nation, it is no longer easy to gain a respectful hearing. No longer is the right of conscience freely conceded, no longer are the innate rights of men unchallenged. Into the market and furum we have transplanted the bitterness of the camp and refuse too often to concede the right to a contrary opinion."

"Unselfish Service" is Panacea.

Hill urged the practice of "unselfish service" as the panacea for the ills suffered from a world drunk with hate and revenge.

Delegates from overseas Rotary clubs were presented from the platform at the first session today. There are thirty nations represented in the list of delegates. The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were presented and approved.

At noon luncheons in honor of Rotary district governors finishing their terms of office and for those who have been nominated for this office will be held.

12 Killed, 50 Hurt

that remained on the tracks did all they could to help the injured. But as they were without medicine or bandages they were unable to give much assistance until after the first of the nurses and doctors arrived.

"The injured were taken in private automobiles and in ambulances to Hackettstown, Morristown, Washington and Easton."

Death List May Increase.

The wrecked train, according to some of the passengers, was making fast time when the accident occurred.

One doctor said at 9:45 this morning that the death list would be greatly increased from 12 later, as some of the injured were in a critical condition.

The engineer of the train was killed outright. The conductor was so badly hurt it is feared he will die.

The first two coaches were filled with steam immediately after the impact, scalding many of the passengers.

The engine ploughed through the sand and dirt for 30 feet after it struck the switch. The two coaches immediately behind piled up on top of the engine.

Train Carried 182 Passengers.

The killed included the engineer, fireman and brakeman of the train, and a man, a woman and a child, passengers in the first car.

There were 182 passengers on the train.

The first coach piled on top of the engine, the second coach followed the first and lay crosswise on top of the heap and the third car, a sleeper, smashed into the wreckage ahead.

The wreck occurred during the height of the storm. Rain was pouring down, lightning flashed and thunder boomed. Then came the smash.

At daylight, steam still poured from the broken pipes of the engine. Railroad workers and volunteer rescue workers searched among the wreckage for hours.

News of the accident spread rapidly and farmers, and their wives, for miles around, came to Rockford in automobiles.

Passengers in the coaches that remained on the tracks were unhurt, although some were badly shaken up and the windows in the cars broken.

Partial List of Victims.

HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Here is a partial list of the dead and injured in the Lackawanna wreck at Rockport, near here, today.

The dead:

HELEN WAGNER, five years old.

HENRY STEFFENS, Chicago.

The injured:

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Heimig, Mrs. Henry Karling, Miss Jeannette Jurgensen, Joseph Sauer, Charles Sauer, Irene Wenglemein, Mrs. Wenglemein, Rhinhold Pesehke, Joseph Lafoide, Joseph Brunner, Helen Brunner, Theodore Jurgensen, Mr. and Mrs. Clendel, Mr. and Mrs. Bernherdt, Mary Zink, Mrs. Theodore Einst, Charles Hock, Clara Westleberg, Hulda Heahmke, Rudolph Prouk, Phillip Schmidt, William Wisechenkein, Mrs. Emma Reckersing and John Heigh.

the intricate Book of Revelations, the final one in the Bible.

An unusually interesting and pertinent theme in the light of what recently occurred in Japan and more recently in certain sections of America, will be that on Wednesday evening when he will discuss, "Earthquakes of History and Prophecy."

"Always," affirmed Dr. Tucker, "has my subject for Thursday evening, which will be my last appearance here, attracted many. It will be 'The Social Situation in the Light of God' in which present day homes and modern tendencies of the people will be discussed."

Period of Song and Music.

Preceding Dr. Tucker's discourse another period of song and music, which has held and captivated those hearing them, was given by the artistic members of his party. Miss Allie May Schmidt, accompanied by violin and harp, sang "One Day." Miss Evelyn McKee Coons gave as her harp number "The Last Rose of Summer," with variations and Miss Cora Bell Young in a medley of gospel hymns charmed with the violin.

Following the speaking, Miss Schmidt again accompanied by harp and violin, sang "Peace, Sweet Peace."

The invocation was made by Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the Nazarene church and the benediction was given by Adjutant A. H. Dean of the Salvation Army.

Dr. Tucker utilized a huge chart on which was depicted the Sixteen prophetical books, each carrying a replica of what the great artist Matin conceived to be the likeness and chief characteristics of the phophets. He declared them "Broadcasting in advance the events of the advents." He maintained there were 333 events in the first advent and 666 prophecies concerning the second advent.

Dr. Tucker paid a tribute to the peculiar knowledge to be found only in the brief book of Jude which precedes the Revelations. "But for it we would not know that the devil and the Archangel Michael fought for the body of Moses; certain things anent angels and of the anti-diluvian age and that Enoch was a prophet who prophesied concerning the coming of the Lord. 'Behold He cometh with 10,000 of his saints.'"

That all the prophecies, built together, make "the figure of Jesus Christ" was the emphatic observation of the speaker. "Their information came from God, was moved by the Holy Spirit." Consequently he held "Any man who speaks lightly of prophecies blasphemes the Holy Ghost."

Isaiah was held to evangelical in tendencies, Jeremiah sorrowful, Ezekial parabolical, Daniel political, Joel pentecostal, Hosea evangelistic, Amos symbolical, Obediah a man of indignation, Jonah a prodigal, Micah one of pacification, Nahum a declarer of punishment, Malachi the seer of sunrise, Hobakuk given to patience, Haggie to promise and Zachariah apoiyptic.

Though having spoken thrice on Sunday Dr. Tucker appeared vigorous despite that on Monday during the day he had written "comments on three Sunday school lessons for his magazine, edited five editorials, dictated an article on Bolshevism, prepared a seven-page paper on the prophecy of Daniel and composed three verses of poetry."

Because of what purported to be an approaching storm the services were slightly abbreviated that those in attendance might hurry safely to their homes.

Lightning Strikes Glancing Blow at Equitable Building

NEW YORK, June 16.—Lightning struck a glancing blow at the giant Equitable building, in the financial district, during the height of a severe electrical storm early this morning.

Pieces of stone as large as a baseball were knocked from the coping and fell with a resounding clatter at Nassau and Cedar streets, narrowly missing a patrolman.

JURORS HEAR ATTACK STORY

Reed Child, 10, Tells of Alleged Assault by Man, 51.

Ten-year-old Edna May Reed, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Reed, of Mannington, W. Va., former residents of Newell and East Liverpool, is the prosecuting witness against W. E. Straight, 51, of Mannington, who is on trial in the Fairmont criminal court today upon an indictment charging him with criminal assault.

Straight was arrested about two weeks ago, following an alleged attack upon the girl. The jury was selected yesterday, but considerable difficulty was experienced because several of the prospective veniremen had formed opinions in the matter or announced themselves as being opposed to capital punishment.

On the witness stand yesterday the child, in a thin voice that could scarcely be heard even by the jury, told her story. She said the defendant lured her into his home on the promise of giving her candy. She resumed her testimony today.

Two physicians, who examined the child, were to be called by the state today. The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon or early Wednesday morning. Prosecuting Attorney Marshall Ogden is asking that Straight be given the maximum penalty, provided by the West Virginia statutes.

The Reed family is well known in the East Liverpool district.

Mid-week Prayer Service.

Owing to the absence of Dr. F. G. Fowler, Mrs. Arthur Savage, of Chester, will be in charge of the mid-week prayer service in the First Methodist Episcopal church at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Evangelist Opens Tent Meetings Near Bloomfield School

Evangelist T. L. Terry of Ludlow, Ky., will open a two weeks' series of tent meetings, adjoining the Bloomfield school, three miles north of here, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

He will be assisted by William Richardson, Pittsburgh gospel singer and song leader. Services, which will be inter-denominational, will be held each evening.

The meetings will be under a waterproof tent, having a seating capacity of about 150 persons.

The kitchen garden at Hampton Court Palace, London, is to be converted into golf putting greens and tennis courts.

People Don't Look at Strikes The Way They Used to

In the olden days when people knew little or nothing about costs, and accounting was a very crude thing, and a man sold his product for a price he just "guessed" was right (and frequently sold it at a loss)—in those old days, people were always "for" the strikers—any strikers—just on general principles.

Those times have changed all around.

Men have learned to analyse things; they have learned to find out exactly what a given thing costs, and they have learned also to determine accurately who pays the cost. They have learned by bitter experiences that strikes cost the public money—lots of it. They have learned that if the strikers win an increase the public has to pay it.

People don't look at strikes in the old way since they have learned how close home it comes to the public.

* * * * * * *

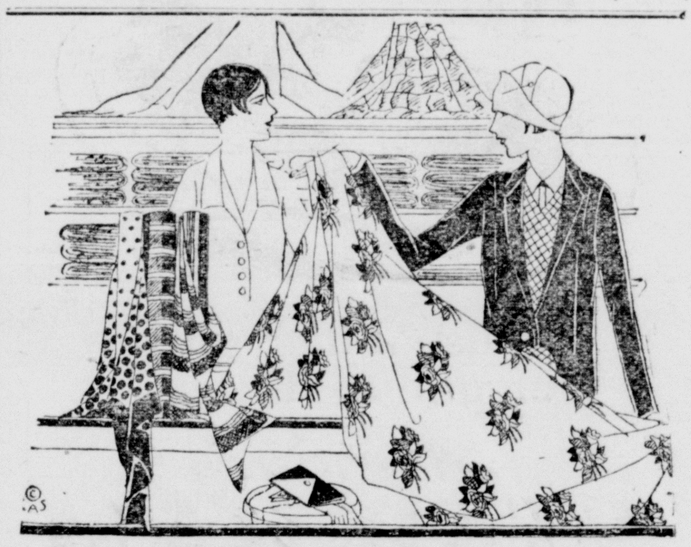

Are you willing to help pay an extra dollar a day to the carpenters who are on strike, or do you think that $10 a day is pretty good wages nowadays for that kind of work?

The carpenters were offered $10; they are striking for a dollar more a day. Who are they striking against?

RIVER WATER IN USE AGAIN

Gravity System Dam Will be Drained for Few Days.

For the next week or 10 days the city will be using its old source of water supply—The Ohio river, according to announcement today by Service-Safety Director A. P. Dennis.

The river water, it is said, will be turned into the mains today. Operations at the pumphouse, which has been down for several weeks, will be resumed temporarily.

This is being done, Director Dennis explained, in order that the painting of the gate house can be completed.

All the water, approximately 24 feet in depth, will be drained from the dam. In addition to the painting work employes of the Hineman company will also clean out the dam, removing debris that has accumulated from construction operations.

Inasmuch as the water works pumps are not in any too good condition, city officials are asking water users to be as sparing as possible until the new system goes into operation again.

PERFECTS TIRE TURNING TOOL

Machine Shop Foreman Fred G. Hurst, of the Wellsville C. & P. shops, has perfected a tire cutting or turning machine for the purpose of turning, resurfacing or smoothing up the faces of the tires on locomotives that promise to become a big factor in keeping locomotives in service, says the Pennsylvania News.

The device is in use in the Wellsville, Cambridge and Kinsman street shops.

The increased weight of the locomotives now in use on the Pennsylvania railroad has caused the tires to wear more rapidly than formerly and the keeping of tire surfaces in shape has become a big factor in the continuous operation of a locomotive.

In the past it has been necessary to place the locomotive in the shop, remove the tires and place them in a lathe for the purpose of turning them true to line. Aoften the operation required several days and kept the power out of service that long.

In the planning of his device, Hurst had the assistance of Gang Foreman G. H. Crawford and his ideas were put into steel by W. H. Davidson, machinist.

In three months trials of the device, 30 locomotives have had their tires turned without dismantling. The chief principle of Hurst's device is that it is operated conclusively by the pair of wheels which are being turned, whereas all other known devices depend upon another pair of wheels or other arrangement to feed the cutter bit on to the tire.

The tool is being manufactured in the Wellsville shops under Hurst's direction.

GOVERNOR GORE VISITS COUNTY

Chief Executive Heads Delegation on Road Inspection.

Governor Howard M. Gore, accompanied by President James S. Lakin, of the state board of control; Captain H. E. Snyder, state highway engineer; C. P. Fortney, C. E. Hiner and Dr. E. B. Stephenson of the state road commission, made a tour of inspection yesterday of roads in Ohio, Brooke and Hancock counties.

The entire day was spent in the above counties and nearly every artery of traffic in the panhandle system was reached, according to an announcement by Samuel T. Mallison, executive secretary to the governor, upon the return of the party to Moundsville last night.

It was intimated by members of the party that some additional improvements other than those included in the general program may be made during the summer and fall in this district.

President Lakin, of the board of control, it was intimated, will confer with the members of the highway commission on sending out at least 500 prison inmates with a view of speeding up improvements.

EVICTION CASES BEFORE COURT

Brooke county circuit court opened yesterday at Wellsburg with Judge J. B. Summerville on the bench. The first cases called were those in which the West Virginia-Pittsburgh coal company is seeking to evict 150 former employes from the company houses. Counsel for the coal companies suggested that the cases be merged but this was opposed by attorneys for the men. Trials may run well into September if the above plan is followed, was the announcement of the court.

LABOR SITUATION IS SATISFACTORY

The labor situation in West Virginia is far more satisfactory than elsewhere in the country, according to Francis I. Jones, director general of the United States employment service, in Huntington to confer with J. A. Martindale, examiner in charge of the service's city hall offices.

"Conditions throughout the United States have shown improvement in the last 60 days, but especially in this state has the unemployed labor been absorbed," said Mr. Jones.

Commenting on the mining industry, Mr. Jones said that West Virginia is not suffering like other mining territories, although conditions in this state are still below normal. Gradual improvement is noted, however.

While the iron and steel industries have eased up somewhat in recent weeks, there is no heavy unemployment in this class of labor. The textile industry is on an upward trend.

"West Virginia is fast becoming recognized as one of the coming industrial states of the union," said Mr. Jones. "The service we now maintain in Huntington, Charleston and Clarksburg is to be enlarged to embrace Bluefield and Wheeling and later other sections of the state may be included."

Explaining the service, Mr. Jones said it is meeting with unusual success throughout the country. He pointed out that during the harvest season in the southwest and northwest the department has charge of moving labor from belt to belt as the crops are harvested.

PUNCH BOARD LICENSES ISSUED

Thirteen licenses to operate punch boards have been issued to Weirton drug store and pool room proprietors since Judge J. Harold Brennan in Hancock county circuit court last week, ruled on a petition for a writ of mandamus, ordered the clerk of the county court to sell licenses for punch boards. Nine licenses were issued the first day following the ruling of the court.

According to deputies at the office of the county clerk, Sheriff J. A. Tope and officials of the state tax commissioner's office had advised against issuing licenses to run punch boards in the county, and because of this no licenses were being issued for this purpose in Hancock county. Application for a writ of mandamus was made in circuit court by counsel for a Weirton merchant.

County officials said that although Weirton merchants were the only ones thus far to secure licenses to operate punch boards, others elsewhere in the county had indicated they would secure licenses when the new tax period started July 1.

Sale Price $35.00
THE perfected RESAS TONE-A-DYNE embodies every advantageous feature claimed for any 5 tube set, plus the Tone Modulator, a feature that is to be had only with the TONE-A-DYNE.
As its name implies, the Tone Modulator controls the tone and volume at all times and under all operating conditions. Nothing complicated or difficult about it. Simply a turn of the knob and the musical or vocal selection assumes its most pleasant volume.
The Tone-A-Dyne is non-radiating. Annoyance from squeals and howls is eliminated.
The selectivity of the Tone-A-Dyne is almost uncanny. With local stations broadcasting on a wave length only 5 meters away, station WHAS (Louisville) has been readily tuned in without interference on a short indoor aerial.
The Tone-A-Dyne is so designed that it can be operated by anyone without previous experience. The three tuning dials are acurately calibrated and matched so that their settings practically correspond. There is only one filament control, and this can be set at the best operating point on reception of the first station. A snap switch controls all tubes. Clearly marked binding posts are provided in the rear for all connections.
The perfected TONE-A-DYNE is the ideal receiver. West Coast broadcasting stations are heard regularly in the East in this instrumet. It can be used on even a small indoor antenna, and on local receiving, it functions with a ground only.

Fishermen, Get Your License!

Columbiana county fishermen, if they use a rod and reel, must apply for licenses if they intend to emulate Izaak Walton this summer.

The bill, which was sponsored by Ohio sportsmen, was passed at the recent session of the legislature and is now effective. Licenses are issued by township clerks and the county auditor.

The law, in brief, requires: "All persons over 18 who use a rod and reel and are not on their own land must pay a license of $1.10. The 10 cents goes to the registrar, the dollar to the state fish and game division to be expended only for the betterment of fishing conditions. If you use a hand line or a cane pole and line, without a reel, no license will be required. Persons who fish on waters on their own land, or tenants of such land, are exempt from paying the fee. If they fish on other than their property, they must pay the license."

In calling anglers' attention to the enactment, Chief Dent O. Thompson, of the state fish and game division, announced that no drastic measures will be adopted by the game protectors while the law is being made effective. However, he suggests that fishermen, anxious to start on their vacations, will avoid possible trouble if they obtain their licenses before leaving home.

When sufficient time for anglers to familiarize themselves with the regulations has elapsed, game wardens will be instructed to arrest persons who violate the new law. The safe rule is to obtain a license before you visit your vacation nook.

Vulgarizing The Parks

The automobile, according to Stephen T. Mather, director of the National park service, is a symbol of the jazz age. He is referring especially to the automobile as used by camping tourists. He cares more about the parks than he does about the motorists. He doesn't mind their using the parks, and is cheerfully engaged in making the parks more accessible and serviceable to the campers; but he sounds a warning.

If genuine park lovers do not resist the tendency, he says, the touring automobile will bring in its train gas stations, hot dog stands and dance pavilions, along with the general clutter only too familiar now, and destroy the beauty of the public parks. The greatest menace to the parks is "vulgarizing."

"The motor camp at best is unattractive," he remarks, "and at its worst it is horrible." This is a judgment in which many campers will concur.

As to the extent of "popularizing" the parks, Mr. Mather says:

"We should not be carried away by the popular demand for recreation, nor should we attempt landscaping or reconstruction. If people do not care enough for natural beauty to leave their cars and climb afoot into the hills, let 'em drive on to the next cabaret and leave the parks for those who do."

Telegraphic Punctuation

A curious blunder occurred the other day in a telegram addressed to a baseball man. There had been a fight between Umpire Mageruth and Billy Webb, manager of the Buffalo team. President Toole, of the International league, thereupon sent a message, which was delivered in this form:

"Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report stop work today."

The umpire read the telegram, assumed that he was to "stop work today," and did so. It developed, however, that according to a now common practice in transmitting telegrams, the "stop" meant "period." Punctuated in the usual way of printed matter, the telegram would have read, "Send full reports of trouble with Webb along with Umpire James' report, Work today." The telegram meant the opposite of what it seemed to mean.

It is easy enough to imagine cases in which such a misinterpretation might make serious trouble for the recipient, and possibly for the telegraph company. The incident may be illuminating to people who have been puzzled by the "stops" scattered through their telegrams. It may suggest to the telegraph companies, too, the advantage of using some less dubious scheme of punctuation.

To Amundsen's Aid

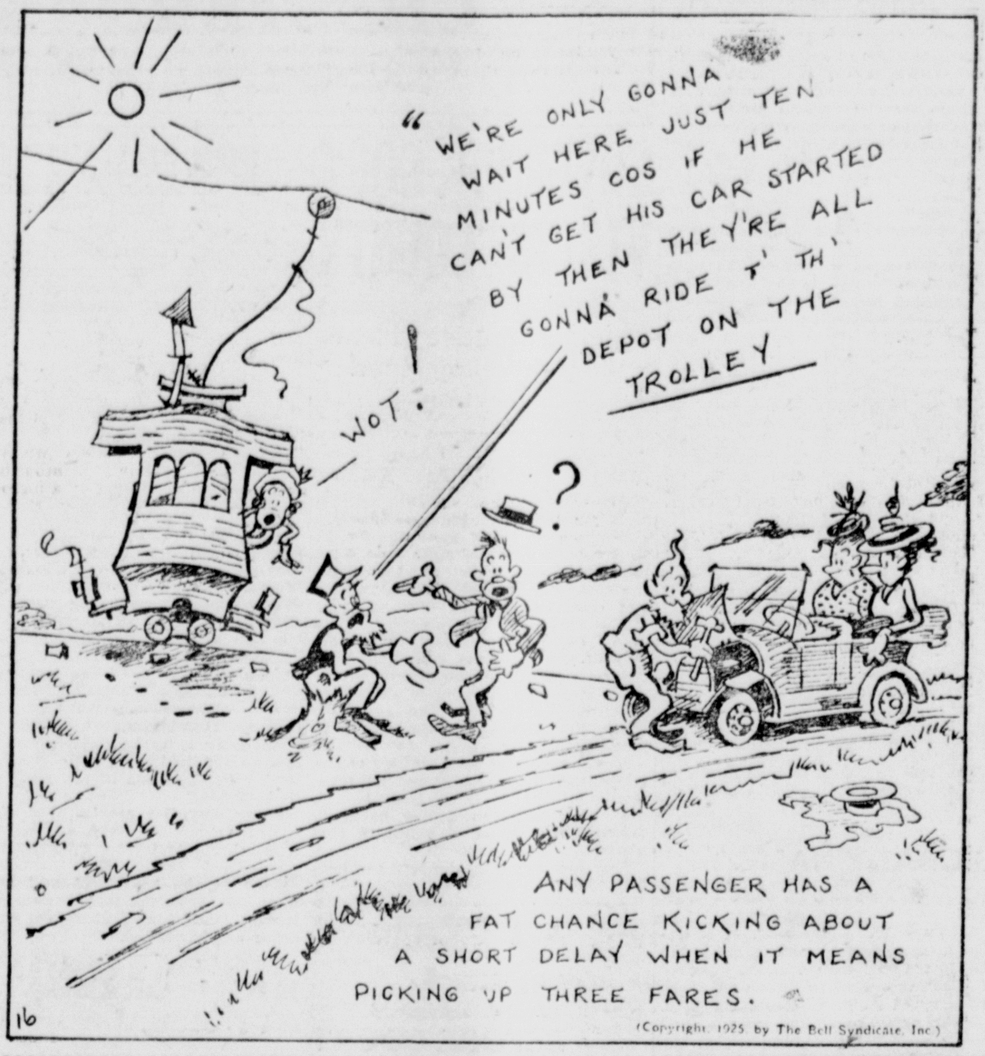

Amundsen is probably safe for the present, wherever he is, if he did not fall into the icy water of the Arctic ocean or come to grief in landing. He had equipment and provisions with him for an extended siege. There is perhaps an even chance that he and his American companion are either traveling over Arctic ice or waiting for rescue.

It is without despair, therefore, that America makes ready to join Norway and France in relief efforts. And the method adopted by this country seems likely to succeed, if any success is possible.

The MacMillan party, with its three airplanes, will be diverted from its original purpose to seek Amundsen as soon as it has established its base at Etah, which may be remembered as the base of Cook and Peary, and which is not very far from Amundsen's intended course. With those planes they should be able to cover a wide area quickly. If one or two planes go wrong, there will still be hope. Amundsen's greatest error, if errors there were, consisted in putting all his hopes and chances in one plane.

The leading industry in the United States at present is cutting up land into building allotments.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 16.—There are hundreds who play the dismal game of fighting off stary reality between midnight and dawn in New York. They eddy to false pleasures. To the lights! Hoping to drown black thoughts in the pot-pourri of glare and gaiety.

In one of these haunts a newspaper reporter found the following:

A girl dropped out of the life of a famous novelist and since then trying to find something other than a substitute.

A woman novelist drinking herself rapidly to death.

A cripple who, thirty hours later, threw himself to death from a hotel window.

A fairly well known newspaperman whose fiancee died ten years ago. This man gets up in the middle of the night occasionally and beats his head against the wall.

A girl who abandoned a lucrative job for the stage and had lived on 55 cents a day for seven days.

A girl, deserted by her husband, so frail that employment experts turned her down, now selling bootleg liquor to keep alive.

Altogether a depressing picture but a part of the three-ring circus known as New York. Nowhere is there greater loneliness than is to be found among those who drift from cabaret to cabaret and sit at lone tables after most folk have gone to bed.

They constitute a big and forlorn army. It is tragedy trying to wear the mask of the mime. Most of them have a stinging longing for home but will never go back. They have failed.

Frank Tinney used to have a comedy name which brought many chortles. He used it as a peg upon which to hang an occasional wheeze. It was Joe Zilch. This was real—the name of a husband of a girl in the show. She recently divorced him and said among other things she was tired of the comedy name. There is a chorus girl whose honest-to-goodness name is Dora Dumm. There may be nothing in a name but somehow it is impossible to imagine stardom with a moniker like that.

I am ever confounded by the lines that provide the most mirth in musical comedies. This stopped a show the other night: The comedienne was departing and some-one advised her to be careful not to lose her way. "Twenty years with a circus," she snapped, "and never lost a spangle." Pete Dailey pulled that one at least twenty years ago.

Canal street since the days when it was a prominent business thoroughfare has always been an interesting street. The swirl northward left it a bit shabby, but it still buzzes with colorful activity. In late years it has become a sort of curb hawkers bazaar—that is a section of it. Here is the leading market for magic. Future Hermanns may find all sorts of flibbergibbets with which to amaze friends. There are disappearin coins, vanishing handkerchiefs, breaking chains, decanters that your various colored waters and scores of other mysteries. The hawkers are hoarse, brown derbied men in blue serge who—like their circus portotypes—smoke hand rolled brown paper cigarettes.

Fred Stone, the actor, is bringing a touch of Texas to Gotham. He has purchased an 1,800-acre ranch in Connecticut and will stock it with Texas steers. He will also have a herd of horses. Rumor says Stone expects to retire in a few years and will spend the rest of his days "ranginging it"—within motor distance of the Rialto.

A rancher in New York reminds me of Fred C. Kelly's quib. He was subwaying to Brooklyn and across from him sat a passenger with a bright new axe. "Ah," said Kelly, "a woodsman from Brooklyn!"

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I have felt as if something were falling out all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters of women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing-down feeling is gone. I feel stronger and do all of my housework and tend to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women if I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Chinese Puzzle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—The question of the disposition of China, of her partition, or her integrity, or what is to become of her, puzzles the western world. The problem of the open door and what to do about the railways in Manchuria and the coal mines occupies a large amount of statemen's time and newspaper space. Indeed it is a puzzle to almost every one except the Chinese.

A glance at a map of China discloses a vast expanse of territory sprawled over one-tenth of the earth's surface. Between one-fourth and one-fifth of the earth's population lives there. There is almost every kind of climate and every type of physiography. There is vast mineral wealth, including huge deposits of coal, iron, copper, tin, silver, gold, lead, zinc and salt. There is a wide diversity of agricultural products and a large assortment of animal species, both wild and domestic.

It is palpable, then, why western nations and Japan, seeking fields for their capital to exploit, should turn their eyes to China. That vast territory lies seemingly helpless and inviting; the population passive.

It is said that China is dying, breaking up, falling to pieces. It is said that she is a degenerate nation, too weak to maintain her own weight. That, however, is a western view.

With the Chinese, a very different view is taken of the matter. Those who understand the situation are not worrying about the future of their country.

China is old, so old she does not realize her age. She has watched the world go around for centuries. She has seen the Babylonian, the Egyptian, the Assyrian, the Chaldean, the Greek, the Roman, rize to great heights and fall. When Rome was struggling with Carthage, and when Europe knew only the savagery of forest tribes, China's imperial library contained thousands of volumes on philosophy.

China has had the Mongols, Manchus and others invade and overpower her, rule her for a paltry century or two and succumb to her deadly influence. She has seen the ages come and go and was withstood them. She is married to the ages and she knows she can never be divorced from them. The world wonders why occidentals go to China and never return, or, if they do, return as changed beings.

Subtle and Strong.

China knows her power, that subtle something which is stronger than armies and more deadly than bullets. Consider the two great alien dynasties that have ruled China. In 1234 the Khans swept everything before them, the beats of their horses' hoofs echoing from the Dnieper to the Yellow Sea. They overran all of Asia and descended like a desert hurricane on China. They boasted that in their path nothing could rear its head; that where their horses galloped cities once stood. Like the Huns of old they were invincible.

The Kin or Golden Dynasty was then in power in China. It put up a stiff resistance, but nothing could withstand the Mongols. They finally shut up the Kin emperor in one of the cities and besieged him. He killed

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Constipation
—the penalty of civilization

RAVENOUS eaters that they were, our primitive ancestors were not bothered much with failure of the digestive or eliminative organs to function properly. Their vigorous, active habits took care of that.

But under modern living conditions we require another means of avoiding and dispelling constipation. And so more people every year are turning to Pluto Water, the safe, quick-action physic that flushes all harmful accumulations out of the bowel tract.

Ward off dangerous appendicitis, pneumonia and influenza. Don't trust to overnight cathartics that interrupt sleep or interfere with business when they work at all. Time counts when you need a physic. Pluto Water acts in 30 minutes to two hours and never gripes.

Keep a bottle of this harmless family physic in your home always. Physicians prescribe it. Druggists everywhere sell it. Bottled at famous French Lick Springs in Indiana.

Haskin's Letter

himself and the Khans possessed China.

They brought a great age to China. From Poland to Japan and from the Arctic ocean to the Straits of Malacca they ruled, and the whole world knew of China. For generations Europe had looked with wonder and awe at mysterious Cathay. Now for a half century there was commerce with her. The laws of the empire were codified and under Kublai, grandson of Genhis Khan, literature and public works flourished. Marco Polo and his uncles relate how they used paper money and passports and traveled on the Grand Canal at a time when such things were unheard of in Europe. Intercourse was carried on with Persia and the Arabs, and nowhere was there a mightier power than that of the Khans.

But China exacted tribute from these proud monarchs. Scarcely 130 years of Mongol rule had passed before the Khans fell beneath China's inscrutable power. They lost their vigor and their martial fierceness and became Chinese. China absorbed them, lost them in her vastness and went on with a shrug.

The Mings next came and were the last native dynasty to occupy the throne. Under them China drew a veil about herself and shut the world out. The nations of the west viewed the Dragon of the East with wonder and superstition.

The Manchus invaded China in 1644 and overthrew the Mings. They ruled until the revolution of 1911, but they too succumbed to the inexorable force of China. They atrophied, lost their strength to rule and passed as the Mongols had done — and China went on.

Then the Grabbing Began.

The last years of the Manchu reign saw the veil, which the Mings had drawn about China, to a great extent withdrawn. The Opium war with England in 1842 seriously tore this veil and the west looked in on ancient Cathay.

The race for footholds in China began shortly afterward. Britain obtained Hong-Kong and Wei-hai-wei. Germany got Kiaehau. France got Wangchau-wan and a foothold in Indo-China. Russia Manchuria and Mongolia and cast her eyes on Tibet. Japan, bursting with population and striving to master the east, displaced Russia in Manchuria and acquired Korea.

So China lay at the mercy of the powers. They had postoffices within her boundaries; they had courts and judges for their own subjects; they used Chinese labor to mine coal which went to their own countries. China was breaking up, so they said, dying; passing to national oblivion. They seemed to have forgotten the Mongol and the Manchu.

China is not worried. She regards with contempt these westerners that fume over money and act with so much bombast. Her contempt for Japan is profound. This upstart in the islands, this kindred race, this mere splash in the ocean, what business has she to emulate the west? Japan has no power that China can not wear down. So says China.

Let those who today walk the streets of Port Arthur and Dairen, look with satisfaction upon what Japan has done, glance back at the ages and ponder. Let them glance at 2,500 years of Confucianism and realize that China was old when Confusius was born. Let them remember that Ptolemy wondered about China, that Rome craved her silks, that Sennacherib knew of her, that Europe in the Dark Ages feared her, that it was when in search of her that Columbus found America.

Japan dreams of dominating Asia, but Japan will look into the mind of that great mass of people in the Celestial Empire and utterly fail to understand it. It is the most incomprehensible, unfathomable, inscrutable, contradictory, logical and illogical mind in the world. It despises the soldier and reveres the philosopher; it is indifferent, but that indifference is more mighty than armor. Japan will find this out.

China is breaking; China is degenerating, they say, but the watching world may well be skeptical. China may be trampled but China always will be there. The late John Hay realized this. He knew China when he said: "Whoever understands that mighty empire—socially, politically, economically, religiously—has the key to world politics for the next five centuries."

Radio Supplies Eyes To Blind Editor of California Weekly

SANTA ANA, Cal., June—More than twenty years ago, through the playful poke of his baby's fingers, Henry Kuchel, of Anaheim, near here, became totally blind.

Today world events are paraded daily before his blind eyes through the miracle of the radio. Kuchel is sixty-six years old now. He is the editor and publisher of the Aanheim Weekly Gazette, the oldest weekly in Orange county.

For years his wife kept him informed of what was going on around him by reading aloud the dispatches in the daily papers. With the advent of the radio Kuchel has been given a new pair of "eyes."

Now Henry Kuchel, writes his editorials from the news he receives over the radio.

Couldn't Drive Car on Account of Fearful Corn

Hear How She Removed It

"My corn hurt so that I couldn't even drive my car," writes Miss Florence Case, 729 Greenlawn Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind. "Finally, I put on a 'Blue-jay' Plaster and in 48 hours the corn lifted right out. I have used other Corn remedies, but have found nothing that can compare with 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters. I gladly recommend them."

What great relief the shapely little "Blue-jay" Plaster gives—yet what a safe and simple remedy! Just a magic bit of "Blue-jay" centered in the soft felt ring, with an adhesive strip to hold it on the corn.

"Blue-jay" is the great discovery of an able chemist. And each plaster contains just the amount to remove the corn gently, as prescribed by this learned man—no more, no less. That's one reason "Blue-jay" Plasters remove corns when other remedies fail. You can't make a mistake about putting on too much or too little, as when you drop on liquid. Hence we recommend "Blue-jay" Plasters as better than any liquid, even than our own.

Also, these plasters give instant relief, because the soft felt ring surrounds the corn and removes all painful shoe pressure. No liquid remedy can do that. 48 hours later the corn lifts right out. In stubborn cases a second plaster is sometimes required. But better two plasters than courting infection by paring corns yourself. All druggists carry "Blue-jay" Plasters because they're so much in demand. Package of six, 25c. Try them, and two days later write us your experience. We want you to make this test

WE want every weak, punny, lagged-out man and woman in America to make this test: buy one bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's, take it according to directions for one week and see how quickly you get started back to full strength and vigor.

We know what we are talking about. Tanlac has helped millions. In our files are more than 100,000 letters of praise from grateful users.

Don't confuse Tanlac with ordinary patent nostrums. It is Nature's own tonic and builder, compounded from roots, barks and herbs that we gather at great expense from the four corners of the earth.

Tanlac goes straight to the seat of your trouble; cleanses and purifies the blood stream; puts your digestion in proper shape. First thing you know you have an appetite like a starved child. You rest at night and your whole body begins to feel the stir of strength and energy.

Don't you be discouraged. Don't put off testing Tanlac another day. Get a bottle now and in a week you should notice signs of real improvement.

Brought Health and Happiness

"Since the Civil War indigestion and stomach trouble have been the bane of my existence. Tanlac made my weak stomach sound and did away with all signs of indigestion. In fact it has brought me health, strength and happiness and I give it unqualified endorsement and praise."

Naughty Shows in Britain Not so Bad Opinion of Actor

LONDON, June—"London plays which people call shocking are Sunday concerts compared with many of the plays American people flock to see."

That's the verdict of Alfred E. Matthews, English actor, who returned from playing in America recently and went to see London's so-called decadent plays.

"I have not found anything even to make me raise my eyebrows," he reported. "While in America I was offered parts in several plays which were too 'impossible.' One was so terrible that Violet Heming, who is regarded as America's most beautiful woman, refused to continue reading a part to me."

Orange Cake Gets Standing.

PEKING, June.—Growth of the orange cake industry is reported from Foochow, where a large portion of the orange crop is made into cakes and exported to other provinces in a dried state, chiefly for medicinal purposes. Fifteen factories are employed in Foochow converting the fresh oranges into cake form, which is then coated with oil and dried.

Quinn's Oakland Club Wins In Sixth From Laughlin, 6 to 4

Singles By Finley and Mundy Produce Win For B. & W

Bricelin's Crew Attempts Comeback in Last Half of Final Frame, But "Cracker" Howell Fans Two, With Two Runners on, and Clash Ends; Six Errors Charged Against Newell Squad.

Playing snappy ball and hitting at timely junctures, Babcock & Wilcox came from behind in the sixth frame to trim Laughlin, 6 to 4, in a City league contest last evening at Newell. Darkness stopped hostilities in the sixth.

John Watson, the usually reliable third bagman, releasing two miscues in the sixth, when the score was 4 to 2 in favor of his team, contributed greatly to the situation that gave the brickmen their victory. A pass by Riser and a boot by V. Bailey made possible the needed runs that came following a well timed single.

In that inning, following McGeehan's grounding to W. Mundy, Watson juggled Quinn's drive. Howell hit to the infield but in the attempt to get Quinn between second and third Watson threw high to Sayres and both were safe. Rardin walked, clogging the bags. C. Wagner was safe as V. Bailey failed to handle his rap and Quinn counted. Finley, of K. T. K., who, with Rariden of the same club, filled vacancies on the Klondyke aggregation, singled after DeBolt had fanned and Howell and Rariden proceeded to score. W. Mundy also beat out an infield drive and C. Wagner crossed the plate. But Finley was caught on Babb's throw, as he tried to follow Wagner in.

Laughlin, in the final half of the sixth, had Reese on third and Sayres on second by reason of a single, walk and two purloined bags. With one out, Watson, though he had a perfect batting record up to that time, with a walk, single and a double, struck out as did DeLong, who also had two previous hits in three appearances.

Then the closely gathering darkness caused Umpire Lindsay to call the game.

DeBolt, back from a Pennsylvania college, played his first game with Babcock & Wilcox, in right field, and made a fine running catch of Reese's fly in the second, in addition to swatting .500 for the day with two singles in four times up.

Laughlin had a bad day in the field, their six miscues contrasting unfavorably with Babcock & Wilcox's two, both made by Quinn. "Hoop" Riser and "Cracker" Howell presided on the hilltop for their respective teams. The former allowed but six swats and only in the sixth did two of them come together. Only DeBolt, Finley, W. Mundy and Rariden connect with him. But one of his two walks was costly.

Howell, although allowing 11 hits, kept them well scattered except in the fourth, where four were registered. Errors, however, in that and the first aided in the scoring. He did not fan a single man until the sixth when he whiffed the last two to face him.

Howell's work in striking out the last two men up in the sixth with two on and one out, stood out as one of the day's stellar performances.

COIN MAY DRAW LEONARD BACK

Bout With Walker in August Planned for Ex-champ.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Formal announcement is expected within a matter of weeks that Benny Leonard has thought better of his hasty retirement from the wholesale and retail glove business, following a series of protracted conferences between Jack Kearns and Billy Gibson. It was thought that the deliberations of these great minds had to do with a proposed Dempsey-Tunney meeting, but it developed today that the subject under discussion was a bout between Leonard and Mickey Walker in August.

Gibson, it is understood, virtually has given his word that Leonard will play along when the time comes.

While non-active professionally for almost a year, Benny has kept himself in condition at his gymnasium where the tired business man may his rest by running 20 laps around the track. The young man is said to be as sound physically as ever he was.

His mother, given credit in the record books for the decision over Benny that prompted his retirement from the lightweight ranks and the ring in general, is also alleged to have been won over to the proposition. She can buy a lot of mental serenity with the quarter million that is believed will fall in Leonard's lap as a result of the deal.

The bout, next to the proposed Wills-Tunney transaction, is planned as the "big shot" of the 1925 outdoor season. It will fill any promoter with joy and the seats with cash customers. It is one of those ballyhoo, no megaphone.

It is such a form-fitting transaction that apparently Messrs. Kearns and Gibson have wasted little thought on Leonard's attitude.

"He's a business man," Kearns said today with a significant wink.

He and Gibson, it seems, have gotten so far ahead of the propostion that they are haggling over the division of the purse. Both think they are entitled to the biggest drag and only a gradual modification of this laudable idea will bring them to an amicable conclusion.

This will probably take the form of a fifty-fifty split of approximately a half million dollars.

Chester vs. K. T. K. (Columbian park).

It's about time for Wallie "Pickling" Pipp to be traded again by the Yankees. He was benched the other day. It has taken less than such a move to start tales in past seasons of plans to separate him from his Yankee uniform.

Pipp has been traded "on paper" to every ball club in the American league during his 10 years with the club. The reasons assigned have ranged from a desire to "strengthen the team" to "getting harmony in the club." Both bluffs have been called by New York fans whenever trade winds became brisk.

And in the meantime, in between times, Wallie has had fun. He has played much better ball than anyone has given him credit for. He has listened to the good and mean things said about him and kept his poise—and his batting eye.

The three or four efforts to trade him to obtain other playing strength were nipped in the bud—if they ever were meant seriously. No one with good sense would trade a hard hitting first baseman—one of the best batters and fielders in the game in an effort to add strength to a club unless he could get half a ball team in return. A good first baseman is a vital cog in a baseball machine. Ask the Cleveland club owners who have been trying to find one for 10 or 12 years.

Speaking of Wallie and first basemen, the Tiger bosses probably kick themselves around occasionally when both are mentioned.

Wallie had made quite a rep as a young infielder with Kalamazoo in the Southern Michigan league in 1911 and part of 1912 when the Tigers bought him. He received a tryout that fall and then was released on option to Providence and then Scranton. The Tigers recalled him in 1914 only to turn him over to Rochester. When the Yankees were begging everybody for ball players in 1915 to help them assemble a team that could play big league ball the Tigers sold him to the New York club at the waiver price.

SOME GIFT.

Pipp has been a regular member of the Yankee wrecking crew. His hitting and fielding at first played an important part in the climb of the club to their first pennant in 1921. Pipp's ability to get on base ahead of Babe Ruth and his bludgeon have netted the Yanks many valuable runs.

Pipp is a college lad. He played two years at Georgetown University. After leaving college he played with a semi-pro outfit in Hastings, Mich., and then in Grand Rapids, his native town, before going to Kalamazoo.

Akron and Cleveland Place Tourney Hopes On Youthful Golfers

Werner and Hasmann in Top Form for State Title Matches at Portage Club Course Next Week, in Which J. M. Wells Will Defend Title; Large Delegation of Local Players to Witness Contests.

Akron is all steamed up over the chances of Frank Werner in the state amateur golf championship tournament which will be played at the Portage Country club, Akron, next week.

And Cleveland will lay the family relics on Eddie Hasmann, boy star, who stepped along to the finals last year at Columbus.

But East Liverpool golfers, to a man, are backing Joseph M. Wells, 1924 champion, winner of the Oakmont invitational tourney this year, to repeat his performance of last year, despite the threat of "dark horse" uprisings from the big cities of the Buckeye state.

Werner, the Rubber City hope, is 18 years old. This is his fourth season as a golfer, and, Akronites say, he is one of the most phenomenal golfers in the state. Last year and the year before he won the junior championship of the Akron and the Cleveland districts.

He went over the Portage course last season for the Akron amateur title. He is a member of the Fairlawn Heights club, of Akron, but he plays at Portage almost as often as he does at his own club, so he has the advantage of familiarity with the course upon which the state tourney will be played.

Eddie Hasmann, who couldn't stand the pace set by Wells in the finals at Columbus last year, is also reported to be shooting bang-up golf this summer, and Clevelanders, as a result, are expecting him to produce next week.

A large number of local golfers are preparing for the trip to Akron. The tournament play will start Monday.

ASCOT RACE MEET WILL OPEN TODAY

ASCOT, England, June 16.—With ideal weather as an added inducement for crowds, and with beautiful women and hat and gown models to be seen everywhere, England's fashionable race meeting opened here this afternoon.

King George and Queen Mary drove from Windsor castle in state for the occasion.

The track has been transformed by hundreds of landscape gardners into a veritable blooming garden. The best of English horses are on the program for the week. Lord Astor has a long list of entries and expects to win a number of purses.

Why we call them TRUE Low Pressure Balloons

THE comfort and cushioning you get out of balloon tires depends on how soft you can run them with safety to the tire.

Even two or three pounds make a big difference.

It is therefore important for you as a car owner to know that U. S. Royal Balloons need not be over-inflated to save them from early and uneven tread wear or tread separation.

U. S. Royal Balloons are built of Latex-treated Web Cord. They have the new U. S. "Low-Pressure Tread."

This construction provides long tire service at even lower pressures than have been recommended in the past.

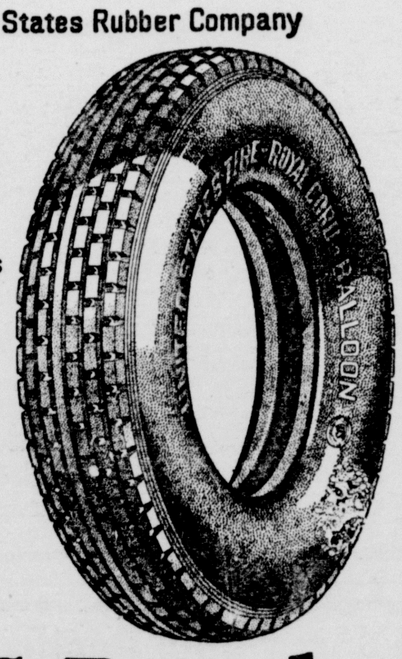

True low pressure means extra cushioning, added comfort and less wear and tear on your car.

Don't compromise to save your tires. Ride on U. S. Royal True Low Pressure Balloons.

How to Solve It

Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the rignt; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

Tagging The Bases

The Athletics did not go to Shibe Park to praise Speaker but to bury him. They buried him and his Indians under a 13-run rally in the eighth, the greatest in the history of Philadelphia baseball, and won, 17 to 15. Simmons' homer with two on was the blow that broke the Indians tomahawk. Umpire Owens was painfully but not seriously injured in a collision with Spurgeon.

The Cards made it four straight victories while the Phils were making it nine straight defeats, 6 to 4, Rhem doing the heavy work.

In a seance of near-fights, the Pirates drove Scott to cover, stood off the Giants' last inning rush and won, 7 to 6. It was the Giants' fourth consecutive defeat.

The Red Sox won a go-as-you please from the White Sox, 13 to 5, Ruffing getting glittering support.

CONSTIPATION

You can't Cure This Ailment; You Must Prevent It.

Constipation is not a disease. It is simply a condition brought about by carelessly allowing your food to clog the intestines.

Stop taking cathartics. Use the preventive method of keeping the bowels free. Pepsinco, a small chocolated tablet, ably assists in digesting whatever is eaten. One little Pepsinco tablet taken after each meal for a day or two will overcome the constipated condition that has been troubling you. Pepsinco is not cathartic in its action; it is pleasantly laxative and can be taken by children with perfect safety. Pepsinco prevents heartburn, gas, sick headache, bloating, indigestion and all stomach disorders. Sold and guaranteed by druggists. Send for samples. Pepsinco, Wapakoneta, Ohio. Sold at Mathews Original Cut Rate.
